ARGUMENT OVER DETECTIVE WITNESS IN DELORME CASE

Montreal, June 28.—Argument and counter-argument regarding the competency of Detective G. R. LaJoie as witness in the Delorme trial were heard this morning when the case resumed wherein the Rev. Adair Delorme is facing the indictment of slaying his half-brother, Raoul, on the night of January 6, 1922. LaJoie, who is not now connected with the city detective department, having resigned, as he testified, on account of conflicts with his colleagues arising out of the case, some time ago wrote and published a book entitled "My Impressions of the Delorme Case." LaJoie was called to the stand by R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the prosecution, but witness was at once objected to by Alwyn Taschereau, counsel for the defence, who questioned the competency of LaJoie on the ground that he had made definite statements in his book which prejudiced the case. LaJoie rejoined that these statements were theories which he, as a detective, had advanced in reconstructing the murder.

During the argument Mr. Taschereau asked His Lordship, Sir Francois Lemieux, to issue a writ for the arrest of the detective for contempt of court. Later, in asking His Lordship not to allow him to testify, he stated, "If you do, I hold there will be a demonstration of a law of justice from such that the same population of our province will revolt."

His Lordship interposed that it was hardly necessary to go far. Mr. Taschereau declared that LaJoie was an "enemy of Delorme," that he was in advance a perjurer, that he "had pursued the Abbe from the beginning of this affair," and that he had "no place in a British court of justice."

His Lordship permitted LaJoie to take the stand with the reservation that the Court would address the jury on this point at the proper time. Before the noon adjournment the Court issued instructions to newspapermen that should proceedings of the case be published in advance of their submission to court, they would be cited for contempt.

ELECTRIC LIGHT MEN DUE FRIDAY

"State and Municipal Ownership From the Insurance Man's Point of View" was the subject of an address by Henry Swift Ives, secretary of the Casualty Information Clearing House, Chicago. George C. Pratt, president of the Washington State Retirees Association and merchandise manager of the Grote-Rankin Company of Seattle, spoke on "Merchandising as it applies to the electric business." Last evening's session at the Hotel Washington was devoted to addresses by R. V. Kuykendall, director of the state board of public works, on "Public Opinion of Commission Regulation;" W. H. McGrath, vice president of the Puget Sound Power and Light Company on "Public Ownership of Utility Securities," and Carl D. Jackson, general counsel of the National Electric Light Association, on "Trend of Court Decisions and Legislation."

To-day's programme in Seattle consists of committee reports with general and informal discussion. The public relations section were in charge of George L. Myers; the commercial section, Lewis A. Lewis; accounting section, George P. Gavine; technical section, R. M. Boykin; George E. Quinn is secretary of the association.

TROOPS PILLAGED CITY IN CHINA

of probable strife in this province, Kiangsu and the Shanghai Chinese Chamber of Commerce already has taken steps to discount that possibility. Fearing a clash between the Kiangsu and Chekiang factions, Parliament comes together here, the Chamber telegraphed the Tientsin military governors of these provinces, urging both to take immediate steps to forestall any such outbreaks.

Selling Temples
Canton, June 28.—Sun Yat Sen's Constitutional Government, in a desperate effort to raise funds in the face of hostile armies driving from the west, north and east, is selling temples and public lands over the protests of the general public and conscripting large numbers of the working class for service in Sun's front trenches and along his transportation lines.

Despite strenuous attempts to beat back the enemies of the Constitution, they continue to advance. No reports arrived to-day from the northern and eastern fronts, but from the west front came word that Kwang forces under General Luk Wing Ting had occupied the town of Lukto and that Sun's gunboats on the West River and his land forces had fallen back on the city. Lukto, 100 miles due west of Canton. Two brigades of Yunnanese troops of the Constitutional army on the East River have been transferred to Wongsha, on the Canton-Hankow railway.

LOAN TO JUGO-SLAVIA.
Paris, June 28.—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday adopted a report of Deputy Margane, authorizing the loan of 300,000,000 francs to the Government of Jugo-Slavia.

A CAUSE FOR WONDER.

"Leonidas," said Mrs. Keeton, "I must give you credit for one thing. In all our married life you have never spoken an unkind word to me."
"No, Henrietta."
"What I'm wondering is whether to give you credit for a lovely disposition or mere lack of courage."

PUBLIC MARKET HOLDS MEETING

Is First Annual Gathering of New Stallholders' Association

The first annual meeting of the Victoria Market Stallholders' Association was held yesterday at the Victoria Public Market. The officers elected were as follows: P. Cousins, president, re-elected; Mrs. Little, vice-president; S. C. Blake, secretary; and Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Work, Mrs. Wohl, W. Williams and D. Watson. It was decided that there would be an assistant secretary and to that office J. Dunn was appointed.
The stallholders decided to hold a summer market to be held in the month of July.
Secretary Blake was able to show very substantial progress in connection with the market, and, owing to the enlargement of the premises since the last year, it has been possible to accommodate all stallholders, there being no waiting list now. Since that time, however, some of the stallholders have dropped out and now there are a few vacant stalls. These, the third time in the last five years that the market premises have been enlarged. The financial statement presented showed a small surplus on hand.

GASOLINE TAKEN ABOARD PLANE IN MID-AIR

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 28.—A forced to descend yesterday, after less than six hours in the air, but having accomplished the notable feat of refueling twice in mid-air, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant Richter, army aviators, will make another effort to seize the aviation records for which the flight was intended.

In their flight yesterday, Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter took eighty gallons of gasoline aboard their new airplane from another aeroplane while both were racing through the air at the rate of eighty miles an hour.

Gasoline was taken aboard the aeroplane twice. Lieut. Virgil Hines and Frank Seifert took the refueling minutes later at 9:15 a.m. and a few minutes later it was raining along the course of the De Havilland in which were Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter. It was soon overhauled by the racing plane, which came along beneath. Then came a tense moment for the spectators, as the suction of air from the propeller of the racing plane raised the fuel "ship" to a dangerous level. The pilot, however, soon righted the plane, and Lieut. Richter, in the lower machine, seized an end of the forty-five-foot hose, which dangled from the refueling tank. At the first attempt the hose was jerked from his hands, but he soon had it again in his grasp. A second later he had it inserted in the De Havilland's reserve tank. In less than two minutes forty gallons of gasoline had been taken aboard and the machines quick-separated.

Gasoline Spilled
The second refueling was accomplished about fifteen minutes later and with as much ease, apparently, as at the first contact. It was learned later, however, that as the hose was taken from the reserve tank, a shower of gasoline, possibly several quarts, whirled back in the terrific wind created by the propeller. It sprayed all over the back of the racing plane but did not come near the hot exhaust of the motor and there was no sign of fire. Talking about it later, Capt. Smith and Lieut. Richter made light of the danger.

Appeal Dismissed
At the conclusion of the hearing in the Court of Appeal yesterday of Kotyk and others versus the Royal Bank of Canada yesterday afternoon the appeal was dismissed. The appeal was by the defendant-appellant from an order of Judge Thompson in the County Court of Yale, at Fernie, in the preliminary steps of a trial affecting the wages of sawmill workers to the extent of some $12,000. The main action is a test case by four of the wage claimants to decide the point at issue. E. C. Mayers appeared for the plaintiff-appellant, and Alfred Bull for the defendant-appellant.

THREE GIRLS LEAD 10,000 B. C. PUPILS IN ESSAY CONTEST

Victoria Has Gold and Silver Medal Winners, But None Here Win Cups

Judges Swamped in Competition to Stir Interest for Forest Protection

Jean Halliday Mackay, 15, of the Prince Rupert High School, Marjorie Wakefield, 13, Vernon Central School, and Betty Martin, 12, Weldrum Creek, to-day won the first prizes in the Provincial essay competition on "Our Forests and Why We Should Protect Them From Fire," conducted by the forest branch of the Department of Lands and Forests, T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, and P. Z. Caverhill, Chief Forester.

Ten thousand students, nearly 6,000 of them from Vancouver alone, and two thousand from Victoria, competed for the prizes.
Miss Mackay will be awarded a large silver cup for winning the first prize in the High School group. Miss Wakefield will also be awarded a silver cup for turning in the best essay in the Province of any public school pupil. Other prize winners will get gold and silver medals. Betty Martin will receive a silver cup as the best of the intermediate grade list.
C. B. Peterson, C. S. Cowan, both of the forest branch, and J. D. Gillis, assistant superintendent of education for B.C., were the judges. The number of essays sent in broke all records of any similar competition in British Columbia, and swamped the judges and the staff they have had working under them for a month reading and culling. The judges worked nearly all last night to get the results through to-day before the schools closed for the summer holidays.

The full list of prize winners in the High School class is:
First prize silver cup—Jean Halliday Mackay, 15, Prince Rupert High School.

Second prize gold medals—Alice Hooker, 15, Harper's Camp school; Betty Riley, 13, Convent of the Sacred Heart, Point Grey; Leslie D. G. Brooke, 15, Britannia High School, Vancouver; Frank Morse McNicholl, 16, Prince Rupert High School; Priscilla Matheson, 15, Pentecost High School.

Third prizes, silver medals—Ida C. Boyer, 13, Mission High School; Norah Humphreys, 15, Convent of the Sacred Heart, Point Grey; Eric

DUNCAN HEARS PREMIER OLIVER

Duncan, June 28.—Duncan learned about the whole freight rates issue from Premier Oliver himself last night.

Nearly 200 persons in the Duncan Opera House lent for the occasion by J. Waddell, listened to the Premier for nearly an hour and a half. The meeting was under the Retail Merchants' Association and the Duncan Board of Trade.

J. Y. Copeman presided, and those on the platform were: Mayor O. T. Smythe, H. P. Prevost, president of the Board of Trade; R. S. Kirkham, president of the Retail Merchants' Association; Capt. Berkeley, president of the Agricultural Association; A. J. Noel and W. Waldon.

The Premier traced the history of the fight. Among the things he said were:

In this matter there is no animus towards any railway company or its officials. There is no justification for excess charges for the mountain section because the railway's contract was to build through the Yellowhead Pass and the Province should not be penalized for the mistakes of the railway's engineers.

The Port Moody-Klamloops and the Fort Williams-Winnipeg sections of the C. P. R. were handed over to the railway company free to operate.

"Canada is spending immense sums of money to improve the water transportation by lakes and canals, which are in direct competition with the railways in the East, but we are denied the benefits of these expenditures by reason of the high freight rates and the Customs regulations designed to prevent transportation here by water," he said.

Mountain-Climbing on Vancouver Island

Cameron Lake showing Mount Arrowsmith in the distance.

Vancouver Island is becoming famous for many things. Among the chief of these is its climatic advantage, the more utilitarian its strawberries; and among the tourist attractions its marvellous scenery, and magnificent drives, its many fascinating trips both by boat and by rail. But, while tens of thousands of visitors holiday in the island every summer, very few of them are aware of the fact that within less than a day's journey of Victoria there are mountain peaks covered with perpetual snow, and massive glaciers, which defy the warmth of the summer sunshine, where those who enjoy that most exhilarating sport, mountain-climbing, may put all of their skill to the test.

The most popular mountain from an Alpinist's point of view is Arrowsmith. It is about six thousand feet high, and to reach it one travels by one of the most magnificent scenic railways on the continent. There is a diversity of country all along the hundred miles from Victoria to Parksville. Parksville is on the east coast of the island, and Victoria, situated at the extreme south of the island is the starting point for the journey. One of the first summits to be crossed is that of the splendid Malahat, about fifteen hundred feet above the sea. Here, from the "Lookout," one looks down on a wonderful panorama of green-embowered hills, narrow winding waterways, the wide stretch of the sea itself and the Olympic mountains on the Mainland in their dazzling dress of ice and snow. After crossing the Malahat there are miles along the shores of the salt water, journeyings among picturesque villages and towns, journeyings among sweet-scented woods which are always gay with flowers.

At Parksville the road divides one branch swinging toward the west. And there begins the first trek in the journey which leads to the everlasting hills. As one nears Cameron Lake, whether one travels by rail or highway, one sees the beginning of the vast forest of Douglas fir, than which there is no finer stretch of timber in America.

Just across the lake from the Chalet one begins the ascent of Mount Arrowsmith.

The particular day when we made the journey was in early June. It was sweet and cool near the water, the bracken thrusting up branchy and tall, maiden-hair ferns just unfolding, all of the trees and shrubs wearing their new dresses of fresh young green.

We started at noon, and from the very outset, found the trail fairly steep. With only occasional stops for breath, we pushed on for five hours before we made the Hut, a distance of about 3000 feet up. It was rather early in the year for mountaineering and the trail had not been cleared since the winter storm, which made our going rather more difficult than it would otherwise have been. But every step of the way displayed some magnificence of scene that called forth exclamations of delight.

The Hut was practically buried, for the snow lay deep on the upper reaches. It took us an hour or more to tunnel into it, for although our packer had gone ahead with the blankets, he could not accomplish much alone. But we finally dug our way in, cleared the snow from the windows, made a fire, and before very long the aroma of boiling coffee and fried ham filled the little cabin, and we sat down to eat with ravenous appetites.

The sleep that comes to one on these high, snowy altitudes, far above the slightest sound of life, is deep, dreamless and infinitely refreshing. We awoke at eight the next morning, full of eagerness to continue the climb, which from there on is a real test of strength and endurance.

The final five hundred feet were very steep, and not without danger for the unwary. We had a few tumbles, and slides, which only added to the enjoyment, and when we had pursued our journey to the end our satisfaction was very great. For it was an objective worth striving for.

The view was grand beyond conception, snow-peaks all about us, dazzlingly splendid in the sunshine, clouds of mist lifting from the valleys, and rolling away to give a glimpse of lakes blue as periwinkle, of bare cliff-sides coloured with the tints of the rainbow, and bright green valleys, and forests of sturdy little jack-pine, while now and then the clouds would roll up and melt into the blue of the sky, we could glimpse a farther view, and we said it was the sea and the mountains beyond the sea, but the distance made it almost as vague as a half-forgotten dream.

It is a journey that one can easily make within the day, providing there is no miscalculation, and it is a most joyfully exhilarating climb, while the picture which the summit discloses must always stand out conspicuously in the gallery of one's memories.

WILL NOT SUPPORT WORLD COURT PLAN

Senate Democrats in U. S. Say Harding's Effort Will Fail

Washington, June 28.—A statement of Senator King, Democrat, at Salt Lake City, to the effect that the world-court is practically killed as a result of the St. Louis speech of President Harding and that Senate Democrats will not support reservations proposed by the President, is supported by other Democrats in Washington.

The same view is expressed by Senator Caraway of Arkansas and other Democrats.

FACE BROKE OUT WITH PIMPLES

Hard, Large and Red. Cuticura Healed.

"My face broke out with pimples that were hard, large and red. They feasted and scaled over, and itched and burned causing me to scratch them. I tried several different remedies but they did not help any. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased some, and after using them about a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Catherine I. Carter, Aberdeen Hospital, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health often when all else fails.

The Flavor Is Natural

Mrs. McKee, who has been kind enough to send several recipes in the past, has asked why Pacific Milk has a nicer flavor than any canned milk she has tried. "Do you put something in it to flavor it?" We do not. The flavor is that of pure fresh milk. Through our improved process the richness is maintained without impairing the natural taste of the cream. Does this explain it well enough, Mrs. M.?

15,000 EDED LIVES IN U. S.

15.1 Per 100,000 Was Ratio in Year 1922

47.8 Was Ratio in San Diego, California

New York, June 28.—Improved economic conditions in the United States during 1922 brought the suicide rate down slightly. The Spectator, an insurance publication, reports, announcing that the rate for the year was 15.1 per hundred thousand of population as compared with a rate of 15.7 in 1921.

Between 15,000 and 16,000 persons took their own lives during the year. It was estimated on returns from seventy-six large cities. Of these cities, San Diego, Cal., led the list with 47.8 suicides per 100,000. Sacramento, Cal., was second with 37.9; San Francisco third with 36.4; Los Angeles fourth with 30.3; Portland, Ore., fifth with 27.2; Seattle, Wash., sixth with 27.1; Trenton, N. J., seventh with 24, and Denver eighth with 23.9.

Curtailment of the sale of firearms and of poison, found to be the two most popular means of ending life, is urged by the report, which deplores the lack of public interest in checking suicide.

GRAIN INQUIRY IS HELD ON PRAIRIES

Farmers Say Prices of Equipment They Need Too High

Stettler, Alta., June 28.—The high cost of articles necessary to the production of wheat rather than the low price received by the farmers for their grain was to blame for unsatisfactory economic conditions in the agricultural industry, according to testimony submitted by some of the farmers appearing before the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission here yesterday.

Complaints were made that, when cars were short, farmers lost money as the result of elevators taking cars out of their turn, and one witness declared that some farmers could obtain cars by tipping the conductor $10 or $15.

Two elevator operators and a number of farmers, as well as the president of the Stettler Board of Trade, gave the commission the benefit of their views.

HOUSES DISAGREE REGARDING BILL

Ottawa, June 28.—The Senate last night insisted on its amendments to the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act with which the House of Commons had disagreed. The most important of these amendments is that providing that the chairman of boards in industrial disputes should be appointed by the Chief Justice of the province. On this the Senate took a division last night, and insisted on it by 32 to 25. The next step is a conference between the two Houses.

BUSINESS PROFITS TAX COLLECTION

Ottawa, June 28.—A bill to amend the Business Profits War Tax Act, enabling the Government to collect arrears of taxes under the act, was put through all its stages in the House last night and sent to the Senate.

None of the taxes are now being assessed under the act, nor is it proposed to do so under the bill passed last night.

The act as it exists limits the period within which a person can be held liable for taxes under it to three years after the assessment, and the purpose of the present bill is to remove the time limit, thus enabling the collection of arrears of taxes at any time.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, stated that the arrears of taxes totalled about $5,000,000 out of a total of $200,000,000 imposed under the act.

FARRAR DIVORCE
New York, June 28.—Miss Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, was granted a decree of divorce from Lou Tellegen, her actor-husband, in the Supreme Court yesterday. Miss Farrar was permitted to resume her maiden name and was given the privilege of marrying again. This last privilege was denied Tellegen, who was directed to pay the costs of the action. The decree will not become final until three months from yesterday.

RACETRACK BETTING.

Ottawa, June 28.—The special Senate committee which had proposed amendments to the Criminal Code under consideration, submitted its report yesterday afternoon. The committee, while dropping the clause in the bill which prohibited publication of racing information, recommends a substitute clause which is designed to prohibit importation of papers devoted exclusively to racetrack betting. A new clause in the bill provides for appeal in criminal cases.

PRICES NOT PUBLISHED.

Ottawa, June 28.—It would not be in the interests of the Canadian National Railways to announce the prices paid to various companies for coal supplied to the system, it was announced in the Commons yesterday afternoon by Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, in reply to a question by J. T. Shaw, Independent, Calgary West. To make this public to everyone in the business would, Mr. Graham said, tend to a combine on the part of coal dealers, and Mr. Graham, which would, no doubt, increase the cost of coal very materially.

INCOME TAX.

Ottawa, June 28.—Amendments to the Income Tax Act, largely devoted to clearing up questions of interpretation, particularly in cases where the taxpayer is engaged in more than one business, were passed through all stages in the House last night and sent to the Senate.

NEEDS REFORMING.

Pointing out that the Canadian Senate is an obstructive body which operates as a deadweight on political progress, The Ottawa Citizen thinks the time has arrived when the Canadian people should demand its reconstruction. It suggests as a simple plan the appointment of Senators by the Provinces instead of by the Federal Government as at present.

Whether The Citizen's proposal of Senate reform would be the best way to meet the case is open to question, but there will be general agreement that a thorough reorganization of this section of our Parliament is necessary. The need of it has been recognized for many years. Senate reform has figured prominently in the platforms of the two chief political parties at intervals for several decades, only to be conveniently forgotten when each has gained office and when the exigencies of party politics have dampened the enthusiasm of the reformers. The result is an institution for political retainers, appointed in pursuance of electoral deals, and in others again to be got out of the way because their political opinions, while quite all right in opposition, would be embarrassing to their party if they were aired in the House of Commons.

This is not to say that the Senate is altogether a collection of mediocrities. In the third category we have just described have been some of the ablest statesmen Canada has produced. Men like the late Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir George Ross and Sir Richard Scott have played distinguished parts in Canada's political progress, while the most outstanding figure in the Conservative ranks in Ottawa is Sir George Foster. Senators Bostock and Dandurand, to mention two others, would lend credit to any parliamentary institution. But the Chamber as a whole is just what The Ottawa Citizen says it is—a deadweight on political progress. It is not representative of the people, who of course have no direct responsibility for the appointment of its members, although they have to foot the very heavy bill the maintenance of the Senate costs. Nevertheless, it has no compunctions in rejecting or amending out of all recognition measures adopted by the House of Commons, in some instances unanimously, and for which members of the representative house have a direct mandate from the Canadian people.

In these reactionary activities the Senate, of course, is not unanimous. In the matter of the pensions bill, for example, a vigorous minority is anxious to give effect to the popular demand as expressed in the legislation adopted by the House of Commons, without undue delay. Nor should it be denied that legislation which goes to the Senate after it has passed the Commons sometimes calls for revision in important particulars or rejection. But a situation under which the majority of an unrepresentative second chamber may nullify measures passed by the representative House in the public interest and in response to the public demand, and then, secure in the fact that they are appointed for life and cannot be effectually reckoned with, tell the people contemptuously that they do not know what is good for them, is intolerable in a country which professes to be as democratic as Canada. If the Senators had to face the electorate every few years there would be a different story to tell.

NOTHING TO GET EXCITED ABOUT.

Until the Washington Government gives official notice of its intention to seize all foreign ships that enter American ports with liquor most people will take the suggestion with a fairly large grain of salt. It has enough responsibility on its hands to enforce regulations which it has every right to enforce, and which are not being challenged by other governments, without adding to its difficulties. It has no desire to convert the controversy into a serious international dispute; but it must not be supposed that a nation backed by 110,000,000 people will confess its inability to uphold a law because it may conflict with various interpretations of international usage. Legal minds may debate the status of a foreign ship inside the three-mile limit. Our neighbor is satisfied on the point. Liquor within the prescribed area contravenes the ruling of the Supreme Court. This ruling will be upheld and it can be taken for granted that no shipping company will continue to carry forbidden liquor for the return journey in the face of it.

THE BILL SHOULD PASS.

There is no need for Sir James Loughheed or any of his colleagues in the Senate to become unduly annoyed at the lobby or the form of lobby which the ex-service men of Canada have thought fit to organize in support of the bill which has been designed to cure a number of pensions anomalies.

It should be patent to every member of the Upper Chamber, as it was to a majority of the House of Commons, that these men are merely asking for fair play and not the moon. There may be occasions when hue and cry demands do not wholly conform to actual requirements or are not even economically sound in the most liberal sense of the term; but it must be obvious to most people that the findings of the Ralston Commission disclosed a condition that merits remedy. The bill now before the Senate is the result of a careful analysis of that report and an acceptance on the part of the Government of a just obligation.

Surely Sir James Loughheed and those Senators who are supporting his views in this matter will not allow the House to prorogue without permitting the measure to become the law of the land. This much is expected of them and we shall hope that the ex-service men involved will not be disappointed.

SAANICH WINE.

It may be some time before the loganberries of the Saanich Peninsula are figuratively shouting their origin in distant lands from the moist recesses of a reputed quart of rich wine; but the proposal of the Liquor Control Board to test the possibilities of the local product is of first rate importance to this part of the world.

It is an open secret that thousands of pounds of these berries have been converted into a palatable liquid in defiance of prohibition laws and in challenge of high priced spirits. But the troublesome nature of the process, to say nothing of the paraphernalia that the amateur distiller must obtain, combine to invoke the speculation as to whether the game is worth the candle. None the less it can be said that loganberry wine has become a favorite beverage and a serious competitor of claret and ports. On this account the scientific conversion of the fruit into a marketable commodity should be good business for the Liquor Control Board and of immense advertising value to this community.

Almost limitless quantities of logans can be grown on Saanich Peninsula and in other parts of the Island. It therefore follows that a very large and far flung market could be satisfied at profit of more than one kind. In any case the general public will await with interest the result of the initial output and its reception by the people.

RECOGNITION OF SERVICE.

Material for congratulation will be found in the announcement that Mr. George Kidd has become President, and Mr. W. G. Murrin and Mr. A. T. Goward Vice-Presidents, of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company. All three officials are well known throughout the Coast section of the Province and Vancouver Island. They have shown themselves to be good British Columbians of many years standing and efficient officers of the company. And it may be said without hesitation that their invariable tact and good judgment have added friendliness and mutual satisfaction to their relations with the various representative bodies with whom it has been necessary for them to enter into engagements and transact business in a general sense. Vancouver Island is primarily interested in the local Vice-President and the people of this part of the Province will congratulate him and his colleagues upon their new titles—a tangible recognition of work well done.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Premier Smuts has successfully withstood a by-election in spite of the recent Nationalist-Labor pact. The Government candidate was opposed by a Nationalist and had to fight both factions. But he won by a comfortable margin.

At least the radical wing of the Opposition in the British House of Commons is doing its best to impart a little liveliness into the proceedings. But "white-livered cowards" and "dirty dogs" and similar epithets could hardly be construed as the right sort of advertisement for government by Labor.

There is a report abroad that Germany is endeavoring to discuss the subject of reparations with Paris alone. If she can put up an argument that will interest the French Government it goes without saying that neither Great Britain nor any of the interested Allies will worry much about any possible slight that such a course might be interpreted to be.

Canadians will learn with pleasure that the annuity to be paid to Dr. Banting will enable him to devote the rest of his life to scientific research. The value of his discovery, however, cannot be assessed in dollars and cents. He has given something to humanity that will cause the name of Banting to be spoken with gratitude for many days to come.

Conservatives throughout Canada naturally are extracting much encouragement from the result of the Ontario election. They certainly need it. The new Government will be the only one of its political stripe in the country. In the Dominion Parliament the Conservatives are the smallest of the three groups and as far as accomplishments and prestige go they are smaller even than their number represents them to be. As a specimen of the kind of leadership that hopeless little band is afflicted with it is necessary only to contemplate Mr. Meighen's puerile criticism of a Canadian Minister signing a treaty with the United States which has to do with the halibut fisheries in North Pacific waters. In the name of goodness who should have signed that document other than the Minister who negotiated it?

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

NOT A PRACTICABLE SUGGESTION.
Toronto Star:—It is suggested that provision should be made for the firing of electors who do not exercise their franchise. But if an elector has to be forced to vote, does his ballot really express an opinion that ought to be counted as against the ballot of a man who votes willingly? Conscripted opinion is not practical.

DEFACING BEAUTY SPOTS.
Winnipeg Tribune:—A bill to regulate poster advertisements that "defile England's fair shrines with glaring announcements" is now before the British House of Commons, and appears to have some sympathy among the members. Canada and the United States might well find reasons for including some such regulation in their own statutes.

VICTORIA'S RESORTS

To the Editor:—Although now a non-resident of your beautiful city, one may claim an interest therein as a taxpayer.

The interesting drives, the bays and the beaches have historic names generally, but one particular locality in possession of the name "Foul Bay," so-called by a number of people.

If I am not mistaken, the old residents, like myself, called that locality "Foul Bay" because we always found it a good hunting ground in the early days. Would it not be as well to retain the name given it by the early settlers instead of using the first-mentioned name, which does not sound well and is not correct?

T. D.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:—In your issue of the 24th inst. in connection with the test case to settle the validity of the dismissals sent to all the teachers of Saanich, in which I acted on behalf of the teachers, it was stated that my salary to commence was $1,018.

This statement is very misleading and I wish to make it known, through your paper, that my salary to begin with in September, 1919, was $750.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—Through the occurrence of unforeseen circumstances, I note that no mention was made in your account of the citizens' reception to the party by Mr. and Mrs. Pease, of "Hamsterley-Lakeview" on their return to Vancouver Island.

May I, therefore, through your columns, and speaking on behalf of my fellow travelers, not only thank Mr. and Mrs. Pease for the dinner and the luxury that they gave us, but draw the attention of our fellow citizens to this beautiful spot so close to Victoria, to which they can run in their cars in but a few minutes, and enjoy bathing and boating and other outdoor amusements.

THE ACTUAL TRUTH

To the Editor:—May I reply to the supposed "Actual Truth" by the actual truth? Your correspondent, "Veritas Vincit," in yesterday's Times expresses his belief on a mere assumption and that from a very limited viewpoint which distorts the actual truth when he says, "I am sure that the actual truth is that the Bible is a book of lies." He has the whole truth viewed from all points. It is without question that King Saul lost his kingdom and his life through his disobedience to God and his consulting a medium. It is not said that Samuel was seen at all by Saul, but the Bible does say that Samuel spoke to Saul. And if it was in reality the spirit of the prophet Samuel speaking, then Samuel came not in response to the medium's call but in answer to God. In his anger cut the procedure short with a sudden interference and sent the real Samuel, and the Witch of Endor was evidently scared out of her wits when she saw the real Samuel and "cried with a loud voice."

This is the actual scene which Scripture depicts. Veritas Vincit! To bring in Scripture to support his belief in Spiritualism with a view of divine sanction is indeed a pitiable one and falls like a pack of cards. Mere assertion is not proof, but here we have both biblical authority and proof: "So Saul died for his transgression which he committed against the Lord even as he kept the word of the Lord, which he kept not, and also for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit, to inquire of it, and inquired not of the Lord; therefore He slew him and turned his kingdom unto David, the son of Jesse."

One would think that the weighty argument in the quotations from authorities, read in the first letter on this subject appearing about two weeks ago in the columns of your contemporary would suffice on material grounds alone to leave this thing severely alone.

THE MUTT AT LAST GETS RECOGNITION

The Homeliest Mongrel in Victoria Will Win Honors at Victoria Show

The mongrel at last has come into its own. The most perfect or imperfect mongrel, from which ever angle you look at it, that parades the streets of Victoria is to have honors thrust upon him at the Victoria Kennel Club's Summer show at Dixie Ross' Store on Government Street, Saturday evening. A pulsing picture of the best or worst, anyhow the prize winning mongrel at an eastern show recently appeared in the Times picture and those attending the show invited to speculate on the family tree but from all accounts it baffled the experts. The class is an innovation in Victoria. It is pointed out that there are some valuable features to the Mutt Class. The owner can take his dog out and shoot it or on the other hand the class often causes great excitement and at the same time gives novice dog owners a chance to compare well-bred dogs with others. Shows are conducted in a clean, orderly manner and all classes are open to the public whether members of the club or not. The sporting dogs will be judged by Mr. Frank Tapp Turner, the well-known setter breeder, and all other breeds, terriers, toys, etc., by Mr. Fletcher, formerly a prominent breeder and exhibitor of London, England. The club solicits the patronage of all Victoria dog lovers in their efforts to better the lot of the canine species and to keep the breeds pure. Children's classes

SETTLEMENT REACHED

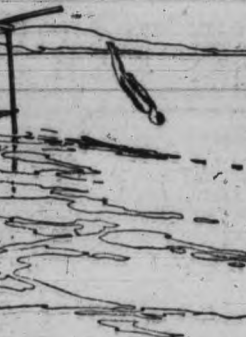

During the luncheon recess in Supreme Court yesterday the action of Doig versus Levy and Nodek was settled out of court. When the court resumed in the afternoon the terms of the settlement were agreed to by the court. The action was one by David Doig against Isadore M. Nodek and H. E. Levy, the last-named defendant not appearing in answer to the suit. The claim was for $20,000, the balance held to be due on a note of the defendant Levy backed by Mr. Nodek as surety. The terms of the settlement were not announced. J. B. Patallo, K.C., and H. E. Robertson, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and H. A. Maclean, K.C., for the defendant Nodek. Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald heard the case.

NEW NATIVE SONS ARE INITIATED

160 Members Brought Before Club Last Night; Entertainment Successful

Following the drive for membership for the local branch of the Native Sons of Canada, Assembly No. 1, a meeting was held last night for the purpose of initiating the 160 new members. The affair took place in the K. of C. Hall and was attended by a large number of the members of the organization. Mrs. J. Longfield and Mr. Petrie won the Native Sons' medals at the B. C. Musical Festival in Vancouver. Mrs. Longfield could not appear, but Mr. Petrie received his medal and rendered two solos.

A most interesting address was given by J. W. Connell, his subject being "Canadian Citizenship." The address was very timely and was greatly enjoyed by the assembled company. Mr. Connell is well known as a speaker here and his efforts last night were crowned with success.

Major-General R. G. Edwards Leckie, C. M. G.

Died June 23, 1923

By Bernard McEvoy, in The Vancouver Province

Gaily play the pipers, smartly beat the drums,
See, along the city streets the Highland regiment comes;
In the April sunshine, the tartans swinging free,
All Vancouver's crowding the Seaforth's march to see.
Barely has a year gone by since the first Seaforth signed:
Now they march five hundred strong, and more than that behind.
Bonnet on head, bravely tread, "Heart within, God o'erhead,"
Marching like your Scottish fathers, now among the dead.
There at front goes Leckie, leader of your van,
Well you know you owe him more than any man:
Follow him, yes follow, this first church parade;
He has led his soldiers where the bravest were afraid;
Medals from South Africa gleam upon his breast:
With you all, his heart is—he gives himself no rest:
When you sing in church to-day and hearts with fervor brim,
Praise the Lord for all good things, and praise the Lord for him.

Hear the loud clarion sound!
"The War's dread declaration!"
It rolls the world around,
And startles every nation;
Every village, every city,
Hears its loud reverberation.
Calling Freedom's sons to battle;
Canon thunders, rifles rattle!
Hear the loud clarion's sound—
"The War's dread declaration."
And on that August day—nine years ago—
Did Leckie falter for a moment? No!
Five hundred strong he went to fight the foe.
And you, brave Seaforths, earned a deathless fame:
And played your part in War's terrific game;
Let the 39th salute; let Festubert tell
That when stern Duty called, you answered well:
The soil of Flanders and St. Julien's wood
You made forever sacred with your blood.

1923
It is a church parade again; tread solemnly and slow,
For there within the hallowed fane your general lies low,
No more to lead you onward, no more to march ahead,
For General Edwards Leckie has joined the mighty dead.
Has joined the brave battalions that lie in Flanders Field
And all our war-worn veterans who knew not how to yield.
He was a gallant soldier, 'tis meet we give him praise;
And let his name be honored by all succeeding days;
As soldier and as citizen he scorned the easy road,
He did his duty manfully to men and to his God;
So now when in the darkest aisle you hear the organ roll
The funeral march of heroes, pray humbly for his soul:
Then, Seaforths, as you pass his bier, record a heartfelt vow
To live up to your battalion as if you heard him now!

IN SAANICH COURT

In a heavy docket list heard in the Saanich police court yesterday afternoon at Royal Oak eight cases received the attention of that tribunal. Trustee Frank B. Hobbs was fined $20 for assaulting H. H. A. Walker. A counter charge against the complainant for cruelty to animals was dismissed. A dog fight at Cadboro Bay was at the basis of the dispute, the court was told. Flin, a Hindu, was fined $100 in all, charged twice with permitting his cattle to loiter on a public highway. Messrs. W. J. Bruce, Harper A. Lewis and Charles Johns were each fined $20 for speeding. John Edige was fined $10 for permitting a bull to roam at large. A Johnstone was fined a like amount for failing to turn out to the right in passing a motor vehicle. Errington Pattinson was granted the leniency of suspended sentence, charged with an assault of Mrs. Fanny Macdonald.

MARRIAGE OF MISS THERESA DORRELL

Pretty Wedding at St. Andrew's Church Last Evening

Miss Lillian Theresa Dorrell, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dorrell, of Eberhart Street, was the charming bride at a pretty ceremony which last evening united her in marriage to George A. Ewart, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Ewart, of Regina, Sask. Rev. W. Leslie Clay, D. D., assisted by the Rev. W. G. Wilson, D. D., performed the ceremony in St. Andrew's Church, which was a bower of marguerites and ferns for the occasion.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in a charming satin gown, wearing the conventional wedding veil, caught beneath a coronet of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of Ophelia roses and sweet peas, and she was attended by Miss Dorrell Pullen as bridesmaid who was prettily dressed in mauve georgette with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of mauve sweet-peas and pink carnations. W. Rimonds, of Regina, officiated as groomsmen.

Messrs. Newton Pullen and Emerson Smith were ushers. During the ceremony, Mrs. Styles Sehl, sister of the bride, sang "Because" very beautifully.

After the service a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Dorrell receiving the guests in a smart gown of black Canton crepe with hat en suite. After a honeymoon at Arrowhead Lakes, Camp Windermere and Banff, Mr. and Mrs. Ewart will make their home in Regina.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Miss Ellen Wilkinson Married to Wm. G. Thorpe Last Evening

Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick officiated at a pretty June wedding at St. John's Church last evening when Ellen, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wilkinson, was married to William G. Thorpe, of the Provincial Geographic Department, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Thorpe of Norwich, England. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, W. A. Wilkinson, and wore a three-piece traveling suit of sand color with peacock blue waist and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and pink sweet peas. Miss Edith Wilkinson attended her sister as bridesmaid in a smart suit of navy blue and carried a bouquet of roses and white sweet peas. Verner F. Ableson supported the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Queen's Avenue. Syringa and yellow roses were used in the decoration of the room. Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe left on a honeymoon tour of Vancouver Island, and will later make their home at 369 Sunset Avenue.

ALEXANDRA ROSE DAY SATURDAY

Inaugurated some years ago as a tribute of affection for Queen Alexandra and to aid the cause of child welfare in which she has always taken so deep an interest, Alexandra Rose Day will be observed in Victoria on Saturday. This Rose Day is observed throughout the Empire and the roses sold under the scheme are made by crippled children in England. The Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E. will have charge of the arrangements and the funds apart from those destined for the cripples, will be devoted to the local child welfare and maternity work of the Order. As the supply of artificial roses is rather limited, donations of the tiny rambler roses would be welcomed and friends having roses to donate are kindly requested to leave them on Saturday morning at the Melrose Company store, Fort Street, which will be the headquarters for the day. Conventions and those selling the roses are asked to secure their boxes and supplies on Friday afternoon between 2.30 and 6 o'clock at the headquarters, Jones Building.

GLORIOUS WEATHER ADDED TO SUCCESS OF SUMMER FETES

Delightful Affairs Yesterday Aided Worthy Causes

Glorious weather yesterday came to the aid of various organizations which had arranged garden fetes in an endeavor to raise funds for worthy causes. The spirit of Summer was in the air, insects hummed drowsily and humans sought the grateful shadows cast by the trees.

For Cathedral Fund. Many supporters of the building fund of Christ Church Cathedral wended their way to The Precincts where the lovely old trees formed a natural awning for the many attractive stalls and their wares. Miss Agnew, in an charming little speech, declared the fete open and was presented with a lovely bouquet of roses.

Mrs. A. J. Dallain, president of the Guild, acted as general convener and the various stalls, including: Work stall, plain and fancy work, linen and babies' wear, Messdames Thomas, Patterson, Quinlan, Hodgkinson; miscellaneous articles, Miss Alexander; home-cooking, Mrs. Grant; candy, Mrs. John Harvey; flowers, Mrs. W. A. Gallier; orange tree, Miss Lillian Norris and Miss Isabel Dallain; ice cream, Mrs. Alexander. Delicious tea was served in the house under the direction of Mrs. T. Lewis.

A delightful feature was the playing of the Victoria Orchestral Society which rendered a varied programme under the leadership of Mr. Drury Pryce.

To Aid Cripples. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodward threw open the pretty grounds at their home, "Clovelly," Quadra Street, yesterday, for a Summer fete in aid of the holiday fund of the Shaftesbury Society, London, England. This fund is created for the purpose of sending poor crippled children in London for a fortnight's holiday at the seaside. The Girls' Corner Club sponsored the affair and in addition, had charge of the tea and the candy stall.

The ice cream stall was presided over by the Misses Ruby and Hester Duke, the candy stall by the Misses Lillian and Phyllis Woodward, while Miss Gladys Woodward and the Corner Club looked after the tea tables, which were placed in the drawing-room and sunroom.

Tennis and croquet were indulged in by many of the patrons, while others contented themselves with less strenuous pleasures including whole-hearted admiration of the magnificent view. During the afternoon Miss Edith Bell, who was for many years a voluntary worker in the Shaftesbury Society, described its aims and origin. Miss Lenore Black contributed songs, and Mrs. Dearborn recitations. The proceeds of the afternoon amounted to about $70. The Salvation Army Band rendered selections.

St. Jude's. A great number of people visited the home of Mrs. J. C. Newbury yesterday to attend the garden party there, given in aid of St. Jude's Church. Attractions, such as clock golf, spinning jenny, butterfly painting and others, made the affair most interesting and pleasing. In the evening a concert took place, with many artists taking part.

The fete was formally declared open by Mrs. Schfield. St. Jude's Ball proved a most capable convener-in-chief. She and the ladies of the committees wish to thank their host, Mrs. Newbury, for the use of her gardens, and also those who aided in making the fete the success it proved to be.

Those who took part in the programme of music during the evening were Miss Ethel Diggon, Miss Keyes, Messrs. Clark, S. Morris and Sharples. Mrs. Townsend's splendid selections were greatly enjoyed. Her hands have lost nothing of the speed and daintiness of youth.

Plain work—Messdames Scowcroft and Boorman. Peanut shower—Master Ashfield Walker. Candy—The Sunshine Circle, Messdames McMinn and Copp. Clock golf—Mrs. Daker. Ice cream—Miss Kellie and Mrs. Wilkerson. Home cooking—Messdames Tinker, Ward and Ellis. Dollar table—Messdames Johnson and Jones. Tulip bed—Mrs. Roberts. Mrs. C. Walker, president of the Ladies' Aid, was general convener for the affair.

COLUMBIA THEATREStirring Adventure Marks
Film; Praised By Children

That the new Goldwyn picture, "Yellow Men and Gold," to be shown for three days at the Columbia Theatre, starting to-day, is likely to be a strong favorite with the boys and girls of Victoria, is indicated by a poll taken recently in a Philadelphia school.

The principal of this private school, numbering some fifty pupils, wanted to know what kind of motion pictures attracted the children under his guidance. There had been considerable discussion about the influence of the screen on the younger generation, some asserting that the boys and girls selected pictures of an unhealthy character.

The school principal announced to his classes that he wanted each pupil to name the three best pictures seen during the preceding four weeks, and to accompany the selections with a hundred word essay on "What I Like in Pictures."

Out of forty-one reports, "Yellow Men and Gold" received fifteen firsts, two seconds and one third, the highest score made by any picture. The essays, written by girls as well as boys, were practically unanimous in explaining the choice of "Yellow Men and Gold" on the ground that the picture told a thrilling story of adventure and mystery. Almost all of them commented on the exciting experiences of the hero and heroine in their search for the buried treasure.

On the basis of these reports, the school principal wrote a letter to the parents of the scholars stating that the picture told a thrilling story of adventure and mystery, and that the children were seeing the better class of motion pictures.

again to-day, proved to be one of the most delicate tasks undertaken by the company's technical staff in many a day. Not that the work of building the massive set was a problem, for that is routine duty for the skilled artisans who construct the seemingly impossible daily. It was the detail necessary to establish the slight difference between the halls of justice of this country and that of John Bull's domain that temporarily confused the studio architects.

There is a thrilling trial scene in "Slander the Woman," in which Dorothy Phillips, star of the production, does a highly emotional piece of work. It was considered essential that the interior of the elaborate courtroom be correct in the most minute detail. Books devoted to the subject were referred to and English authorities on such matters were engaged to supervise the plans and construction of the set and finally a well-known Canadian architect, who has planned a number of British Governmental buildings, was called in to pass on the completed work.

As a result of this thorough research, Mr. Holubar claims that the courtroom scene "shot" for his production is one of the most authentic, as well as one of the most elaborate ones.

DOMINION

Most mispronounced of all screen stars' names is that of Bebe Daniels, co-starred with Antonio Moreno in the Paramount production of "The Exciters," now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

"We always call her Bee-Bee," said her mother, Mrs. Daniels. "Ever since she was a baby we've called her that, and I wish to impress this on the minds of all her friends. During the filming of the Paramount picture, 'The Glimpses of the Moon,' I heard my daughter's name pronounced in various ways. She being a regular girl, her associates naturally call her by her first name rather than the more formal Miss Daniels. 'Beebe' doesn't mind so much what you call her—because it's bound to be complimentary—but those who really know and love her most call her Bee-Bee."

CAPITOL

"One of the best acting companies I have ever had around me," is George Arliss's description of his supporting cast in "The Man Who Played God," his latest photoplay feature which is at the Capitol Theatre under a United Artists Corporation release.

Ann Forrest, famous for her work in many big pictures, plays opposite the star as the wife of John Arliss, famous musician, the role enacted by Arliss. Miss Forrest is a beautiful woman and a splendid actress, with strong emotional tendencies, which have plenty of play in the new Arliss production.

Edward Earle steps from the heroic role of winner of a popularity contest in behalf of a great New York charity, to the part of "heavy" in this production. As Philip Stevens he makes love to Arden's wife, believing that she once longer cares for her musician husband. Mr. Earle has generally been identified with the screen in juvenile roles, but the producers enticed him into the part of Philip Stevens because it afforded unusual opportunities for Earle's artistry.

Ivan Simpson has the part of servant to Arden, a difficult character, in that the player must show emotion while consistently suppressing it. Mr. Simpson is one of Mr. Arliss's favorite character actors and appears with the star in his stage production of "The Great Goddess." Effie Shannon as Arden's sister, has a sympathetic role that will endear her to motion picture audiences everywhere. As the great musician's sister, she finds it her duty to stand by him in adversity as in hours of success, and her ready, kindly counsel helps bring him back into the shadows and triumphantly out into the sunshine of life.

The child star, Miriam Battista, plays a waif of the streets with fine effect. The boy player, "Mickey" Bennett, assists as her brother. They are first found before a toy store window gazing longingly at the treasures within. Through Arden's magic they shortly come into possession of more toys than they had believed any child could accumulate over the entire period of a lifetime. Arden, won back to the sun light, also works wonders in the fortunes of a young engaged couple, played by beautiful Mary Astor and Pierre Gendron. In this part of the story the performance of Margaret Seddon and D. Walsh as an old couple befriended by Arden is strikingly appealing. The direction was in the hands of Harmon Weight, who produced the recent Arliss photoplay, "The Ruling Passion," and who is known as one of the youngest directors in the motion picture field. Forrest Halsey adapted the play for the screen.

HALL CAIVE'S FAMOUS
STORY, "THE CHRISTIAN",
COMING TO DOMINION

A whole royal family in one moving picture.

It frequently happens that the "gelatin king," of Rutland, Nebraska, gratifies a whim to which wealthy persons are subject, and appears before the movie camera; or the "sweater queen" of Scranton may be discovered playing extra parts inco. But the royalties which will be seen in Maurice Tourneur's production of "The Christian," which comes to the Dominion Theatre next week, are not dependent for their titles upon commercial ratings and American journalists. They are no less personages than Their Majesties the King and Queen of England, and H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, who will be easily recognized in scenes taken in London and on the road to Epsom Downs race track on the day of the great Derby.

This is only one of the numerous advantages gained by the Goldwyn company in sending Richard Dix, Mae Busch and a company abroad for three months. The great thing is the supreme air of verisimilitude of the scenes taken in the exact locations of the novel, on the Isle of Man, in London, and in other parts of the British Isles.

NEW IMMIGRATION
FIGURES OF U. S.

Washington, June 28.—Only slight changes from the allotments of the past year are shown in regulations promulgated by the Labor Department, fixing the number of immigrants of the various nationalities who will be admitted to the United States under the "quota" law during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Allotments unchanged include: United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, 77,342; Germany, 67,607; Italy, 42,057.

The changes made for the smaller countries resulted mainly from territorial readjustments in Europe. Austria loses 109, its quota being reduced from 7,451 to 7,342, while Hungary's quota is increased from 6,635 fixed for the present year. Turkey shows the greatest gain as a result of the Turco-Greek war. She is given 266 more than the 2,388 allotted this year, while Greece loses 231, making her total for the coming year 3,063. Syria is reduced from 928 to 882. Poland's quota is increased to 32,577 from 31,076.

The Russian quota is increased to 24,405 from 21,613. Bessarabia now being merged in the total.

The French quota remains unchanged at 5,729.

SPLENDID OVATION
GIVEN TO "GRUMPY"

People Vociferously Applaud and Cheer at Conclusion of First Night

Almost a capacity house rocked with laughter at the steady flow of wit and the eccentric manner of "Grumpy," who was the subject of one of the most popular plays that the Compton players have put on since their inception here. The popular Yates Street playhouse was taxed to its limit last night and, if the ovation accorded by this large attendance can be taken as any standard by which to judge the Compton players' popularity and their remarkable aptitude for character playing, then last night's performance was the zenith of the many well-selected plays they have presented here.

Most Victorians have seen "Grumpy" before when it was presented by Cyril Maude some years ago, and most Victorians know it as one of London's greatest successes, so those who have seen it before can appreciate the characterization of Grumpy by Francis Compton, Mr. Compton has lost nothing of his felicity for handling those types of characters which made his appearance in London a success.

Bruce Bredin, a new member of the company, made his initial appearance as Ernest Heron, the dull but rather naive and somewhat of a Virginia Bullivant, which role is portrayed in the inimitable charming and winsome style by Peggy Dundas, who, needless to say, has won the heart of every patron of the Playhouse. Ruddock, Grumpy's valet, is characterized by Herbert Leslie. Mr. Leslie is versatile in the many roles which he can portray. Stanley Durham was seen in the character of Mr. Jarvis, who incidentally is the indispensable villain of the play. Kebab, the valet, is taken by Stanley Davies while the flirting Susan, a maid servant and who is incidental in causing all the trouble, is taken by Miss Agnes Burton in her usual dramatic manner. To old patrons of the Playhouse a pleasant surprise was offered when William J. Campbell made his first appearance with the new stock company as Valentine Wolfe, a jeweler of high repute both in the retail trade and underworld bargaining.

Maxton and Wheatley denounced those favoring the reduction, notably George Banbury, Labor member for Poplar, as "murderers," and refused to withdraw, despite the efforts of J. Ramsay MacDonald, Parliamentary Labor leader. They also refused to heed a summons to leave, whereupon they were formally named by the Speaker, and the Home Secretary moved their suspension, which was carried, 285 to 70.

Then the Rev. Campbell Stephen arose and excitedly expressed the view that Mr. Banbury was a murderer. He also refused to withdraw, and was named by the Speaker, and was suspended by a vote of 276 to 60.

Another incident.
Hardly had the excitement subsided when another Laborite, J. Buchanan, got into trouble. Emmanuel Shinwell was speaking when Sir George Hamilton was understood to have made some reference to a Jew with regard to Shinwell. This the latter resented, although he said he was proud of being a Jew. Immediately a clamor arose on the Labor benches for the suspension of the offender.

Buchanan roared "white-livered cowards," "dirty dogs" and similar epithets, while the chairman, J. F. Hope, said he had not heard an offensive remark. Buchanan continued shouting, accusing the chair of partiality. He refused to take his seat, and was suspended by a vote of 286 to 58.

Sir George Hamilton eventually apologized to Mr. Shinwell, and quiet was restored.

SAILORS OF MISSING SHIP REACH LAND

Trevessa, British Craft, Sank in Indian Ocean
Seventeen Men Safe; Others Believed Safe

London, June 28.—A mystery of the sea had a happy ending yesterday when Mrs. Foster, a resident of Barry, received an unsigned cable message from the Island of Mauritius, in the Indian Ocean, reading: "Safe, excellent health."

Mrs. Foster is the wife of Captain Foster of the British ship Trevessa, which was given up for lost in the Indian Ocean nearly a month ago.

The Trevessa, a vessel of 5,000 tons, was on a voyage from Australia to England, when on May 26 a wireless message from her was picked up saying she was sinking and her crew had taken to the boats. The Trevessa was owned by the same company, hastened to the scene and searched for the survivors until June 7, when she reported from Sydney that she had found only wreckage and an overturned boat.

Coming on the heels of the message to Mrs. Foster yesterday was a cablegram to the vessel's owners sent by Captain Foster, in which he reported that he had arrived at the Island of Rodriguez with sixteen members of his crew, and believed the boat containing the others would turn up.

ALLEGED LIBEL OCCUPIES COURT

Defence "Fair Comment."
The defendants entered a defence to the suit, and the plaintiffs asked for particulars as to what was commented and what was fact in the letter said to have been written by the defendants and claimed as libellous. The defence set up that the letter was written in fair comment on fact, but did not distinguish in the terms of the letter which was fact and which was comment. To the court today Mr. Mayers for the plaintiffs held that this particularization was necessary before the paper could meet the defence to be set up by the Ministerial Association.

He pointed out there was a vast difference between comment and fact. As to what was comment and what was fact was not the prerogative of a jury to determine but for the defendants to say what they had intended. They could hold it all comment and seek to justify the letter or state which was comment and which fact, when the facts could be met, and on this the jury could pass. The order granting the demand for particulars was a fair one, held Mr. Mayers, who continued to cite references on this point in law.

The letter complained of as libellous in the main action which awaits trial this Fall after the long vacation is purported to have been written by the Ministerial Association in Nanaimo and published in The Daily Herald. As given in the Appeal book before the court, it says in part:

"The Ministerial Association of Nanaimo has been vindictively attacked by The Daily Herald because in the discharge of its duty and acting within its province it has sold the churches to register their protest in a practical way against that paper's attitude on the question of Sunday observance."

"Religious Bigotry," "Reckless Fanaticism," "Cruel Unreasoning Bigotry," "Blighted Pettiness" are some of the choice epithets which have come to The Herald's aid in endeavoring to escape from the moral stigma under which it lies as a result of its campaign on behalf of Sunday desecration. What the Ministerial Association is concerned about is the fact that flagrant defiance of the law as it is being interpreted in other provinces is taking place in Nanaimo, affecting the highest moral and spiritual interests of the people, and The Daily Herald is championing the cause of the law breakers and holding the law up to ridicule. The Daily Herald says 'Sunday observance as ordained by law has not much to commend it.' The Lord's Day Act was a mistake, an outrage to the people of Canada. 'Sunday observance' to us means the right of every man and woman to observe it as he or she sees fit. The Daily Herald has clearly and frankly defined its moral standard. It is not a high one; and if Nanaimo as a city cannot reach any higher, God pity Nanaimo. A go-as-you-please Sunday is evidently the ideal of The Herald."

Church Advertising
The letter deals with other matters and then resumes: "The Association in recommending the withdrawal of the church announcements from The Herald believed it would bring home to it some sense of the extent to which it is outraging the religious feeling of the community."

Measurements Closer Than Any Other Pair of Championship Battlers

Shelby, Mont., June 28.—Recent statistics on Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons as they are at this stage of training follows:

DEMPSEY.....GIBBONS
Ht. 5 ft. 11 in. 5 ft. 11 in.
Weight 185 lbs. 184 lbs.
Reach 73 inches 74 inches
Neck 17 inches 17 inches
Forearm 15 inches 15 inches
Chest 44 inches 44 inches
Waist 35 inches 35 inches
Biceps 15 inches 15 inches
Forearm 15 inches 15 inches
Thigh 22 inches 22 inches
Calf 14 inches 14 inches
Ankle 9 inches 9 inches
Shoe 9 1/2 inches 9 1/2 inches

The above figures speak for themselves.

Dempsey and Gibbons are more evenly matched in weight, height and reach than any two heavyweights who ever fought for the title.

Jim Corbett weighed 187 when he lifted the crown from John L. Sullivan's brow, John L. tip Corbett was two and one-half inches taller than Sullivan and 23 pounds lighter.

Bob Fitzsimmons weighed but 145 when he beat Corbett for the title. Fitz was one and one-quarter inches shorter than Corbett and 22 pounds lighter.

Jack Johnson scaled 210 and stood six feet and one-half inch. Jeff and it on Johnson in both height and pounds when he lost the title to the black man.

Then came Jess Willard—the whale of them all. When Willard defeated Johnson he weighed 257 pounds and was six feet six.

Dempsey was a little man compared to Willard. His weight 185 pounds when he made the Pottawatomie farmer sit down and give up. Now—back to the July Fourth fight.

Dempsey will be a quarter of an inch taller than Gibbons.

As to weight Gibbons is trying to keep present 184 pounds by regulating his training accordingly.

Critics figure that Dempsey is the finest he has ever been. The tape measure bears them out.

Dempsey is smaller around the waist by half an inch than when he last fought. His thigh is thinner and also his calf.

Neither Dempsey or Gibbons got on the scales for the above weight statistics. But for their other measurements they submitted to the tape before newspapermen.

Record Globe Trotter Naturally Travels by Record Breaking Liner

Franklin Kline, Who Is Leaving for Japan By R. M. S. Empress of Canada, Has Traveled Around the World Ten Consecutive Times and Is Still Going Strong

The record holder for continuous round-the-world travel is in the city in the person of Franklin Kline, who will be a passenger sailing by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada to-night for Japan. Mr. Kline has made ten consecutive trips around the globe and he has covered more mileage than he is in a position adequately to compute. Since January 1 of this year Franklin Kline has traveled 24,700 miles and he has visited all the countries worth while on the tour.

Bear on Punctuality.
Unlike most travelers this globe wanderer has a record for punctuality, all his trips being made with clocklike regularity and on a methodical worked out schedule.

Regularly each year Mr. Kline leaves Yokohama on August 15 and by July 1 he is almost invariably back at his office in Osaka. "I am a little behind this trip but by traveling on the fastest ship to the Pacific I do not expect to be much behind my schedule in returning to Japan," said Mr. Kline this morning. The business men whom Mr. Kline meets during his travels have come to expect him at fixed periods of the calendar and it is seldom that they are disappointed. He is such a stickler for keeping his business appointments and being on time.

Cuts Down Mileage.
Each year Mr. Kline travels he cuts more mileage from his itinerary which in a way is indicative of more direct routes of travel and improvement in the facilities in making points removed from the more direct trade channels.

On the previous world tour he traveled 40,000 miles and on his most recent trip he cut this mileage nearly in half. Mr. Kline is attached to the secretariat department of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, with headquarters at Osaka.

In Office Little.
He spends but little time in the Osaka office, however. One month a year suffices.

Two Big Fighters Evenly Matched

Measurements Closer Than Any Other Pair of Championship Battlers

Shelby, Mont., June 28.—Recent statistics on Jack Dempsey and Tom Gibbons as they are at this stage of training follows:

DEMPSEY.....GIBBONS
Ht. 5 ft. 11 in. 5 ft. 11 in.
Weight 185 lbs. 184 lbs.
Reach 73 inches 74 inches
Neck 17 inches 17 inches
Forearm 15 inches 15 inches
Chest 44 inches 44 inches
Waist 35 inches 35 inches
Biceps 15 inches 15 inches
Forearm 15 inches 15 inches
Thigh 22 inches 22 inches
Calf 14 inches 14 inches
Ankle 9 inches 9 inches
Shoe 9 1/2 inches 9 1/2 inches

The above figures speak for themselves.

Dempsey and Gibbons are more evenly matched in weight, height and reach than any two heavyweights who ever fought for the title.

Jim Corbett weighed 187 when he lifted the crown from John L. Sullivan's brow, John L. tip Corbett was two and one-half inches taller than Sullivan and 23 pounds lighter.

Bob Fitzsimmons weighed but 145 when he beat Corbett for the title. Fitz was one and one-quarter inches shorter than Corbett and 22 pounds lighter.

Jack Johnson scaled 210 and stood six feet and one-half inch. Jeff and it on Johnson in both height and pounds when he lost the title to the black man.

Then came Jess Willard—the whale of them all. When Willard defeated Johnson he weighed 257 pounds and was six feet six.

Dempsey was a little man compared to Willard. His weight 185 pounds when he made the Pottawatomie farmer sit down and give up. Now—back to the July Fourth fight.

Dempsey will be a quarter of an inch taller than Gibbons.

As to weight Gibbons is trying to keep present 184 pounds by regulating his training accordingly.

Critics figure that Dempsey is the finest he has ever been. The tape measure bears them out.

Dempsey is smaller around the waist by half an inch than when he last fought. His thigh is thinner and also his calf.

Neither Dempsey or Gibbons got on the scales for the above weight statistics. But for their other measurements they submitted to the tape before newspapermen.

THINGS ARE BOUGHT CHEAPLY IN GERMANY

Germany to-day is perhaps the cheapest country in the world in which to live, at least from the visitor's standpoint.

Here is what Joseph Shrank of the Grand Central Terminal Building, New York, purchased for a dollar in Hamburg:

A knapsack of fine workmanship, dinner with Malaga wine, a room for the day in a hotel, an orchestra seat for "The Geisha," a copy of "Babbalanja," a year's supply of soap.

An excursion by the liner Laconia to Germany and Austria will leave New York July 12.

NO DOUBTS.
Gringo: "Congratulations, my dear boy, I'm engaged to the wealthy Mrs. Grabster."

Binback: "So glad, old man! But—are you sure she is really so rich?"

Gringo: "Sure! I should say so! Why, she was arrested for shoplifting and acquitted as a kleptomaniac."

CHIVALROUS WILLIE.
Teacher: "Willie, who was that who prompted you? I distinctly heard someone whisper that date."

Willie: "Excuse me, Miss, but I expect that it was history repeating itself again."

MASTER OF CANADIAN BRITISHER TAKEN ILL

Vancouver, June 28.—A tale of how well the officers of deep sea ships look after each other has come by word from Suva to the C.G.M.M. Limited, offices here. Captain Forson, master of the steamer Canadian Britisher, went ashore when she arrived at Newcastle, N.S.W., and underwent an operation for appendicitis. The ship sailed June 13 for home and Captain Forson returned aboard the day she sailed. On June 22, when 600 miles from Suva, complications developed and his officers began to worry about his condition, so they wired Suva and the C.G.M.M. Limited, and secured medical advice from there. The Suva physicians expressed the belief he should be taken ashore as soon as possible. He was formerly in the Dollar Company and on June 26 Forson was taken to the hospital and the ship proceeded home under command of Chief Officer W. Wright. It is understood that Captain Forson's condition is quite favorable now he is in hospital.

Mr. Wright is well-known here. He was formerly in the Dollar Company and on June 26 Forson was taken to the hospital and the ship proceeded home under command of Chief Officer W. Wright. It is understood that Captain Forson's condition is quite favorable now he is in hospital.

Russian Refugees Are Bound to States From Manila by Admiral Ship

SS. President Jackson Has 647 Passengers Aboard, Including 13 Refugees Who Were Forced Out of Siberia By Reds; Ship Two Days Behind Schedule

Virtually half the list of passengers crossing the Pacific on board the Admiral Oriental liner President Jackson, Capt. John Griffith, are Russian refugees from Vladivostok and Harbin, according to advices received by the company to-day by cable.

The President Jackson is carrying 647 passengers, 313 of whom are Russian refugees who boarded the ship at Manila. Many prominent Russians, people raised in the lap of luxury, and some with titles, were forced through the refugee outlets at Vladivostok and Harbin when the Red forces of the Soviet took charge of Siberia.

Penniless and Homeless.
It will be remembered that Admiral Stark's squadron of battered and dilapidated ships, crowded with penniless and poorly-clothed refugees, put to sea from Vladivostok and finally dropped their rusted anchors in the harbor at Manila, scrapping the barnacled sides in flight to the depths.

The United States authorities were in a dilemma. After a while the refugees, of a greater part of them, were permitted to go ashore at the Philippine port, and they were placed in camp. More recently it is understood the United States Government has decided to allow the entry of these hapless refugees and they are now finding their way across the Pacific. Some have already been landed at San Francisco.

Behind Schedule.
The President Jackson, according to word received by the company at Seattle, sailed from Yokohama on Tuesday, June 26. She is running two days behind schedule and is now expected to arrive here July 5 to 6.

The closing exercises of the Tolmie Avenue Primary School took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, under the supervision of the principal, Miss Lemmick. The names of those who were promoted were read out, and these students were congratulated by their principal on the occasion of their advancement to higher grades and harder work. The year's showing was very good.

Ideal weather conditions assisted materially in the success of the moonlight cruise enjoyed by a large party on the C. P. S. Princess Adelaide last evening, although the number of patrons was somewhat disappointing to the Victoria Women's Institute which arranged the excursion. The boat left the wharf at 8 o'clock and after cruising among the city of twelve and under on Dominion Day in connection with the cruise.

A concession of one cent a mile has been granted to War Veterans in Victoria attending the G. W. V. A. re-union in Vancouver, the rates being open to members of the association who secure their tickets between June 26 and July 2. A challenge has been received from Bellingham to bring a baseball team of boys of twelve and under on Dominion Day in connection with the cruise.

The moonlight cruise held last night under the auspices of the Women's Institute of this city, was a very great success. The C. P. S. Princess Adelaide, with several hundred enthusiastic persons aboard, left the docks at 8 o'clock and returned shortly after 10 p.m. Dancing and music made the beautiful evening extremely attractive. The passengers were carried about the Gulf Islands, and through a veritable fairland of moonlight, black water and blacker land. The searchlights played on the shore as the ship glided through the narrow channels between the various islands, with a very delightful effect.

Victoria police authorities to-day are on the look out for Simon Kamenchikov, alleged to have made his escape from the Mental Hospital at New Westminster and to be heading this way. Kamenchikov, it will be remembered, was committed to the asylum following his exhibition in the St. John's Anglican Church here during a harvest thanksgiving service in the Fall of last year. Bearing a standard of seven coconuts, entwined with wreaths of figs and dates, Simon trotted up the aisle of the church in a winding sheet. He was about to loose the sheet when he was caught and bundled the Doukhobor out of the building. He was subsequently certified as insane.

LIBERAL PICNIC AT GOLDSTREAM

Will Be Held On July 28 in Favorite Spot
Possibility Lower Mainland Liberals Will Attend

The Victoria Liberal Association has decided on a date and place for the annual picnic, a committee having been appointed at the last meeting of the Central Executive to carry out the plan. It will be held at Goldstream on July 28.

The choice of the date was influenced by the fact that Vancouver and other Lower Mainland associations have made some inquiries about a joint gathering on the island, in which the possibility of warlike proposals may be carried out later, the Victoria Liberals will go to Goldstream, where the ample shade, water supply, and room for a sports programme.

It will be a basket picnic, and in addition to transportation by road, special trains will be operated on the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway within a short distance of the picnic ground. The athletic engagements will include a baseball game between As Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, will be in the city about that time, it is hoped that he will be the guest of the association on the occasion of the picnic.

Vancouver, June 28.—Liberals of the province plan to foregather in Victoria on July 28, which falls on a Saturday, at a big rally to greet Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works for the Dominion Government.

According to the information received by Vancouver officials of the party, Hon. J. H. King will deliver an address, as well as Premier Oliver and other prominent members of the party.

The probabilities are that the majority of the members of Hon. Mr. Oliver's cabinet will be present to make the occasion a memorable one. The intention is to make of the rally not only a great gathering of the clans, but to have a picnic as well. Liberals of Vancouver are already discussing the possibilities of a Victoria rally, and from what is heard it will be made an occasion of as vast a gathering as marked the Liberal picnic in Vancouver a year ago.

The Premier said, recalling the announcement on redistribution he made several weeks ago.

He declared they had been faked to draw the Government out. The Premier left this afternoon for Windermere to take part in the opening there Thursday of the Banff-Windermere Road. Y. M. C. A. SPORTS SCHEDULED TO-NIGHT

Gorge Camp Is Holding Successful Season; Sports at Willows

The second event in the Y.M.C.A. handicap field and track sports will take place to-night at the Willows sports grounds. A large entry was obtained last week, but even a larger one is anticipated to-night. Young men from the Gorge camp are coming for the occasion, while a number of new members who turned up last coaching night will also help to swell the numbers considerably.

To-night's programme has been increased, as has been explained in the endurance tests. The events arranged for tonight are the 220 yards, an increase in the sprint distance, which last week was 110 yards. Last week's quarter mile has been increased to a half mile, while the high jumping will be the field event. Last week's field event was the broad jump.

The Y.M.C.A. Gorge campers are holding a successful season. Last Tuesday night they successfully played Dr. Poynt's team in the playground game. The score was 43-28 in favor of the Y.M.C.A., with Harold Kenning knocking three home runs, Stanley Moore and John Brindley the Y battery, while Dr. Poynt pitched for his own team.

POICE PLAN TO CONCENTRATE ON "DANGER SPOTS"

Will Curb Reckless Driving in Accident Areas, Under Staneland Plan

New methods of coping with maniac motorists, whose reckless driving has been piling up a heavy list of accidents here during the last six months, are being worked out now under the direction of Police Commissioner W. E. Staneland.

Mr. Staneland's plan will enable police to concentrate their efforts on places in the city where most accidents occur. Maps showing the worst danger points, as proved by the last six months' toll of accidents, have been prepared. Mr. Staneland stated to-day. With the aid of these maps the police will be able to concentrate on the accident areas and check reckless driving.

Since the police started their new drive on reckless drivers this week traffic conditions have shown a big improvement, Mr. Staneland declared. Motorists he said are showing the rule which prohibits corner cutting, and are using the arm signals which warn other motorists that they are about to turn or stop.

Spreading through the Fort Street Dardanelles also is being curbed, he stated. "The motorist never knows when a motorcycle policeman may be standing at a street corner watching all cars running through the Dardanelles. Most drivers have come to the conclusion that it is best to keep within the two-way lane limit on this stretch of road."

To-day the international party of Hundred Per Cent Club delegates have several great pleasures in store for them. They were in the first place driven over the famous Malahat Drive to Shawnigan Lake, where they visited during the day. The delegates left the Strathcona Hotel at 10 a.m. and they arrived at the Shawnigan Lake Lumber Company's camp in time for the mid-day meal, as guests of William Munsie, president of the company. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. at Strathcona Lodge, and dancing will follow.

The delegates will inspect the lumber camp on the shore of the lake which is the largest of its kind on the island. Every description of timber product is manufactured there. Approximately 75,000 feet of lumber go through the mill daily.

The company's timber tracts are on the opposite shore of the lake, and are in constant communication with the mill by means of a steam tug and launch. There are over 500 men employed at the camp, including the machinery experts, loggers, engineers and office staff. The greater portion of the output of the yard is shipped to Eastern Canadian markets, American cities, Japan, and the Canadian prairies. The Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway does the transporting of the logs and lumber from the mill at the lake to this city, whence it is eventually shipped to all corners of the globe.

The visit to this yard should prove an interesting one, delegates believe.

To-Morrow's Business. The concluding sessions of the convention here to-day take place to-morrow. A busy day has been planned for the members of the association. Delegates will assemble at 9 a.m. at the Victoria Hotel to receive the report of the resolutions committee and to discuss other important business. At 11:30 a.m. the delegates will be given a lecture by Professor Moriarty on "Business Administration."

At 1:30 p.m. they will reconvene and elect the officers of the international body for the ensuing year. The delegates will also discuss the city at which they will hold their next annual convention.

The new International Board will also meet at the Chamber of Commerce to-day. The delegates will be given a tour of the city at 10 o'clock, the final event of the convention will take place. This will be the international banquet, at which A. Carmichael and Dr. T. Butler will speak.

Golf Tournament. Another important event of to-morrow's programme is the golf tournament at Colwood. The clubs will compete with will for the silver shield which is at stake offered by the Victoria Club. The winning team will hold the shield for a year, but the prize remains in perpetuity. The players will leave for Colwood to-morrow at 10 o'clock. The final rounds of the contest will be played during the afternoon.

The ladies of the International party will be escorted to Hatley Park by Dr. William Russell, leaving the Strathcona Hotel at 2 p.m. Dinner will be attended at the Cadboro Bay Beach Hotel. The ladies, at 7 p.m. Some of the delegates will spend the week-end on the island, although the majority are returning to the Mainland Saturday and Sunday.

MOTION OVERRULED.

In a motion before the Court of Appeal to-day E. C. Mayers asked leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada for the defendants in the action of Hobson and others versus the Municipality of Richmond.

Leave was refused, by a unanimous decision of the court. Judgment against the municipality was given in the lower courts in a sum of $13,500 on a claim for damages from the overflowing of surface drains. The appeal sought would be one for the determination of certain clauses in the Municipal Act, urged Mr. Mayers, but he was overruled.

LAMPSON STREET SCHOOL.

The closing exercises of the Lampson Street School will be held to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Parents and friends of the pupils will attend the exercises and have an opportunity to see the craft work done by students.

GIVEN LONG TERM

Appearing for sentence in the County Court to-day, Neal Matheson, pleading guilty to a charge of obtaining money by false pretences, was given two years in the penitentiary by Judge Lampman. If the accused were sincere in his desire to rid himself of the drug habit, here was a chance remarked the court. Matheson was charged with soliciting alms from Sancho, who held the Crown he could hear perfectly and had a remarkably fine baritone voice.

SIVERTZ DEFEAT STIRS LABOR MEN

Removal From Hospital Board Will Lose City Money, Mayor Told

Jubilee Hospital will lose important working men's patronage as a result of the City Council's decision not to re-elect Christian Sivertz, labor representative, to the hospital board, Mayor Reginald Hayward was told to-day by Alderman E. S. Woodward, labor representative on the Council.

"Since Mr. Sivertz was elected to the hospital board the hospital has been getting valuable patronage from laboring men whose expenses are being paid by the Workmen's Compensation Board," Alderman Woodward explained to the mayor. "Before Mr. Sivertz joined the hospital board most laboring men refused to go to the city-owned Jubilee Hospital, and left instructions that if they were injured during work they should be taken to St. Joseph's Hospital."

"As the expenses of these men are covered by the Workmen's Compensation Board their bills were always promptly paid and for that reason their patronage was very valuable. Now I am convinced, the workmen will go back to their old practice, seeing that the Council has seen fit to rob them of representation on the board."

The Council's action is very regrettable indeed, and quite incomprehensible to me, as Mr. Sivertz has been regarded by his colleagues as one of the most valuable members of the Board."

Alderman Woodward was not present at the council meeting Monday, when the new hospital directors were elected, so he had no opportunity to urge that labor should continue to be represented on the Hospital Board.

Elks Swimmers Open Season At The Gorge

Close Races in Three Handicap Events; Big Turnout of Supporters

Close races marked the opening handicaps of the Elks Swimming Club at the Gorge Clubhouse last night in both the ladies' boys' and men's fifty yards races. The opening event of the season proved a great success. There was a good entry, a fair number of spectators and an impromptu dance wound up an enjoyable evening. Results of the races were as follows:

Boys' 50 yards handicap—1. E. Moffat; 2. C. Reed; 3. A. Wood; 4. W. Robertson; 5. E. Peden. This was very close race and result in doubt up to last yard. The boys give promise to develop real good talent.

Ladies' 50 yards handicap—1. Miss Jessie Eigerwood; 2. Phyllis Styles; 3. Miss Quenneville; 4. Miss Styles; 5. Miss Norrey and Miss Brooks. A promising new member is Miss Styles, who has just arrived from Alberta, where she was prominent in swimming circles. She is only fourteen years of age and although considerably handicapped, last evening she came in second. The change of climate and cold water are against her, but later in the season she will give the best swimmers in the city a close race.

Men's 50 yards handicap—1. Dave Barclay; Canadian 100 yards champion; 2. Bert Bulger; 3. Harry Hanbury; 4. W. Peden; 5. A. McIntyre. This was also a close race. Dave Barclay, who started scratch, had to exert all his energy to overcome the start allowed the other contestants and only managed to nose out Bert Bulger by a few inches.

After the races several of the members put on an exhibition of diving for the benefit of the large number of spectators who had turned out to see the races. Some exceptional good diving was given.

Tea was served the swimmers and an impromptu dance was held in the clubhouse. The orchestra in attendance provided a most enjoyable condition for dancing, and many enjoyable dances are looked forward to during the season.

The next social dance of the Elks Swimming Club will be held next Wednesday evening in the George Bridge Dancing Pavilion, with George O'Connell's orchestra in attendance. The members and their friends are expected to turn out in large numbers.

Frenzied Finance Fight Feature

With the Third $100,000 Due Dempsey Next Monday No One Seems to Know Where It Will Come From; Tracy Through With Any Further Connection With July 4 Battle

St. Paul, Minn., June 28.—Published reports that the Great Northern Railroad probably would come to the rescue financially of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., were met last night by a statement from William P. Kenney, vice-president, that he regarded such action "as altogether improbable."

Ralph Budd, president of the railway, is out of the city but Mr. Kenney said that "promoting a boxing match is scarcely a railroad's business." He said he did not know of any overtures by promoters for assistance from the Great Northern.

The Great Northern, Mr. Kenney said, would not necessarily feel that it is obliged to support the fight to the detriment of its investment in the assumption that the fight will be held, as such development of the road's facilities as have been undertaken at Kearns said, "but I am not considering them at this time. My contract here calls for the payment of the third $100,000 on July 2. Until my contract is broken I am going ahead with plans for the fight here. I have been assured repeatedly since I arrived here that the money would be paid, because before it is due, if it is paid, we will go ahead with the fight."

Disposition of motion picture rights is in the hands of Shelby fight promoters. After bickering all day with local officials, Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, today turned his interest in the film, announced as 35 per cent. of the proceeds, into the hands of Mayor Jim Johnson, treasurer of the fight; Loy J. Molmby, American Legion commander; Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager, and Mike Collins, matchmaker, for disposal as they saw fit. Despite definite promises by local officials that they will have the final $100,000 guaranteed the champion by July 2, when it is due, Kearns said he believed it "uncertain" at this time whether the money would be available. Until there is a breach of the contract, which does not state that the money will be paid until July 2, he will go ahead with plans for the fight, he declared.

In response to a point-blank question, Johnson said he had no intention of guaranteeing the money. He said the final $100,000 of the guarantee would be paid. The champion's manager said he had not been informed as to what sources the money was to come from nor how it was to be raised.

Tracy, who is in charge of the business management of the fight ten days ago at the request of Great Falls business men who contributed to the $100,000 guarantee, said he said at the time when it appeared that the money would not be raised.

I came here to see that the Great Falls money was paid, Tracy said. In this fight got their money back, Tracy said. "It's not in sight now and I'm going back to report to them. I am through with my connection with the fight. I can not say whether the Great Falls people will send somebody else here to represent them."

Tracy left for Great Falls to-night. Whether Tracy's withdrawal leaves the business affairs of the fight entirely in the hands of the original promoters was uncertain to-night, although they assumed immediate charge after Tracy announced his retirement. Fred Searles, a former Great Falls bank cashier, who came here with Tracy to assist in financing the books and handle other financial affairs, probably will remain here for a few days at least, he said.

Returns were received to-day from many cities to which tickets had been disposed. Paul Campbell, who is in charge of ticket sales, declared that the cash received was considerably below earlier expectations. No figures were available as to the actual amount of cash received for tickets.

Will Be Paid.

Shelby, Mont., June 28.—With Mayor Jim Johnson, of Shelby, back in charge of the Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight fight scheduled for July 4, the arrangements for staging the battle went ahead as usual to-day despite the withdrawal yesterday of Dan Tracy, of Great Falls, as business manager of the contest.

Mayor Johnson declared the fight would be held as scheduled, that the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey next Monday would be paid and that if necessary he would sacrifice his own property to raise the amount needed. "We are going ahead," Johnson said, "and the fight will be held."

There is nothing more to say," Tracy added. "The manager of the fight will continue as it has been, there will be absolutely no changes, tickets will continue to be sold at the same price and the guarantee will be paid."

WEISMULLER LOWERS OWN 500-YARDS MARK

Chicago, June 28.—Johnny Weismuller, the water wonder and holder of numerous tank records, to-day lowered his own record for 500 yards in a 75-foot pool by covering the distance in 5:20 2-5, a cut of 31-3 seconds from the old record.

The old record was made by Weismuller at Honolulu last year, where he travelled the distance in 5:52.

Mr. Verne, N. Yale was second in the team event with 7,295 and Harvard third with 1,315.

Helps Victoria Win Net Championships

The most valuable acquisition that the Victoria lawn tennis club has made for a great number of years, as far as membership is concerned, is the enrolment of S. T. K. Verley, well known Vancouver tennis player. Verley has definitely decided to remain a member of the local lawn tennis club unless something unforeseen happens.

Coming to Victoria when a championship play was most needed, Mr. Verley is considered of value to the club, inasmuch that with him comes the many championship titles which have been wrested away from local players in the past few years, in addition to the many other outside championships.

Wonderful Record

Mr. Verley, as a tennis player, possesses a wonderful record, to say nothing of the way in which he can cut eighteen holes of golf before breakfast by way of a preliminary to his afternoon game. Since the year 1919, his penchant for collecting trophies has increased to such an extent that with the close of last year nothing would satisfy him but to secure a position on the Canadian team which is to play at the world tournament in the United States this summer. Owing, however, to unforeseen circumstances and partly on account of the attitude of the B.C. Association took in selecting players from this Province to play in the elimination series in the East, Mr. Verley was unable to make any attempt at securing a berth on the All-Canadian team.

Tommy Gibbons TELLS LIFE STORY

(By Bob Dorman) Chapter VI. Shelby, Mont., June 28.—A lot of things happened in 1920.

Gibbons got a second crack at Harry Grab after a five-year wait, and he polished him off May 15, then he and Eddie Kane went gunning for Carpenter, Beckett, Wells and Boy McCormick over in Europe.

They found Carpenter doing music halls. He was too busy to fight Tommy. Beckett refused to be roped. Wells was fighting. McCormick made a hurried departure over of London to visit friends.

So Kane and Tommy went to Ireland—the birthplace of Gibbons' father and mother. They found the Irish wolf folk.

Tennis Match Lasts Two and Half Hours

Excited Gallery Watch Keenly Fought Contest In Spencer Tennis Tournament; Full Schedule of Matches Set For Opening Day

A match which was watched with keen interest by an excited gallery at the Spencer Athletic Association championship tennis tournament yesterday, was the doubles between Miss Fairfull and Miss Graham against Miss H. Campbell and Mrs. Lee. It required 2 1/2 hours to decide the contest in which 48 games were played, the score being 4-6, 11-9, 10-8 in favor of Miss Fairfull and Miss Graham.

Great activity prevailed on the Craigdarroch courts from early afternoon until dark when the full schedule of matches set for the opening day of the club's championship tournament was disposed of without a hitch. Brilliant summer weather and the presence of numerous members of the fair sex daintily and seasonably attired contributed to the animated scene set off to the best advantage by the green lawns and beautiful surroundings of the club grounds. A delicious tea was served towards evening by a committee of ladies under Miss Fairfull's direction and greatly enjoyed by all.

JUDGE REFUSES LOCKARD'S PLEA

President of Seattle Ball Club Loses Fight in Courts for Recognition

San Francisco, June 28.—Charles Lockard, president of the Seattle Baseball Club, of the Pacific Coast League, yesterday lost his fight in the Federal Court here for a temporary injunction to compel William H. McCarthy, president of the league, to recognize him as the accredited representative of the club. United States district court Judge John S. Partridge, in denying the petition, declared there was a "strong suspicion" that William Wiley, owner of the Los Angeles club, was interested financially in the Seattle club's purchase.

"Baseball must be kept clean and free of the charge of syndicate base-ball," Judge Partridge said in denying the petition.

"MATRIC" DANCE AT LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Annual Students' Function
Arranged for Saturday

The students of Victoria High School and their friends will be given the opportunity of signalling the close of the session by participating in the annual matric dance which will take place in the High School on Saturday.

The dance, which gives promise of being a most enjoyable function, is in charge of an energetic and enthusiastic committee, which has left nothing undone that will in the smallest degree contribute to the comfort and enjoyment of the assembled guests. Reasonable refreshments will be served during the evening. The music will be supplied by Zala's orchestra.

Dancing will commence at 8 o'clock, and will continue until midnight. Tickets can be obtained from any of the pupils, or at Deacon's, 1298 Government Street. Admission may also be secured by payment at the door.

CHURCH JUBILEE OBSERVED; SALE OF WORK WAS HELD

Special to The Times.
Metochin.—The celebration of the Jubilee of St. Mary's Church, Metochin, was carried out in a fitting manner on Tuesday, commencing with an impressive service in the church at 11 a.m., with Holy Communion.

The church was crowded with residents of the district, visitors and representatives of the old-time families, who surely felt the impressiveness of the moment when, with the singing of the processional hymn, entered the visiting clergy, headed by the Bishop of the Diocese, followed by the Very Rev. Dean C. St. Quintin, the Rev. F. Comley, vicar of Metochin and Sooke; Rev. H. T. Archbold, Rural Dean; Rev. H. V. Hitchcock, of St. Mark's; Rev. C. Reid, of St. Saviour's; Rev. F. C. Chapman, Esquimalt; Rev. A. L. Nixon, of Royal Oak. The bishop's address contained touching tributes to the old-time people of the district, the little band of workers who built the church fifty years ago, to whom he alluded as "the pioneer Christians."

After the service, luncheon was served to the clergy and to a few invited guests by the members of the Metochin branch of the W.A. At 2.30 the Jubilee sale of work was opened by the bishop, at the hall, with a few appropriate remarks. He urged support, as the proceeds of the sale were to be devoted to necessary renovations and repairs to the church.

The scene presented was one of beautifully decorated stalls and a busy band of workers. There was the sewing stall, which reached almost half the length of the hall, and which was filled with the most beautiful articles of wearing apparel and gifts of every description, and mention must be made of the wonderful work of Mrs. Pope and Mrs. J. Smart, who were responsible for the greater part of the embroidered articles for sale on the stall, which elicited the admiration of everyone present. The stall was under the management of Mrs. H. G. Pierce and Miss Blythe, assisted by Mrs. H. R. Brown and Mrs. Smart.

The "hoop-la" stall and the "brandy" without which no sale of work is complete, was ably managed by Mrs. F. Ellison, assisted by Mrs. W. Whitty. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. J. D. Reid attended the home cooking stall, and Mrs. M. M. Brown and Mrs. T. T. Pullan the candles.

Miss Grace Whitty was in charge of the ice-cream booth, while afternoon tea was dispensed by Mrs. Rising, Mrs. Hextall, Miss Dunn, Miss Helen Cosh and Miss E. Arden.

The convener of the sale was Mrs. F. Comley. Among others who gave their services were Mr. R. R. Gibbs, and F. P. Frudd, while Mr. G. Pierce made a very efficient auctioneer as well as a most amusing one.

It is worthy of note that out of all the immense quantity of goods prepared and made for the sale, only two articles remained unsold at the close of the sale at 4.30 p.m.

Over $300 was realized, and the bishop's prediction proved very true.

AUSTRALIANS WILL ARRIVE TO-MORROW

the best class of settler for the countries they represented.

Emigration Plans.

He rejoiced to be able to state that an Imperial agreement had resulted whereby 6,000 families would be secured for 6,000 farms in the south-west portion of New South Wales. Every effort must be made by the Dominions, he said, to bring out the surplus population under which the Motherland is staggering at the present time. He was proud to realize that while other lands were in the rut, going down under adversities and entanglements, Britain was setting an example of honesty and integrity for the whole world.

Closer understanding of Dominion view point to strengthen relationships as junior partners in the firm of John Bull & Co., was what Hon. H. S. W. Lawson emphasized as a need. He denied assertions heard that the Old Land was too conservative, was fossilized and in a rut of deterioration.

Britain Not Failing.

It was true that Britain was knocked about, bruised and with her hands full of surplus labor troubles, European entanglements and the like, but the quality of the race had not deteriorated one iota. Admiration for the Mother Land was not one jot or tittle abated, for she was standing up four-square, carrying all her obligations and smiling through. Throughout England were to be found hundreds of very modest memorial tablets marking the human passage of noted soldiers, navigators, statesmen and explorers. Wonderful tradition lay behind each of these and their modesty was an inspiration for all who followed.

Inherent in the British race was the inspiration to be worthy of the great trust imposed. To personally visit the scenes in Britain where events which were felt through the world took place, was in itself an inspiration to great things, said the Victorian Premier.

HUNDRED PER CENT CLUB ENTERTAINED

Enjoy Tour Over Saanich Peninsula and Visit to Butchart Gardens

The delegates to the International Hundred Per Cent convention here this week were guests of the local branch of the association yesterday during the afternoon, and were entertained by a motor trip over the Saanich peninsula and to the famous Butchart gardens. In that scenic wonderland at the head of the Brentwood waters, the delegates were conducted about the gardens by Mrs. R. P. Butchart. Here they were greatly impressed with the beauty and splendour of which Vancouver islanders are justly proud, and expressed themselves as satisfied that the gardens were one of the finest sights they had ever seen.

The weather conditions were perfect for such an outing as the Hundred Per Centers enjoyed yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. Charles MacCaughy, of Portland, conveyed the thanks and appreciation of the delegates of the Hundred Per Cent body to Mrs. Butchart for her very great kindness and hospitality.

At the luncheon of the Per Centers at the Dominion Hotel yesterday, Garnet S. Merryfield presided. The delegates were shown how the local branch of the body conducted its weekly meetings. The chairman called upon Ralph Berrill to recite the creed. M. H. Taylor then gave an interesting account of the business of A. J. Woodward, the florist, which was well received. T. W. Woodward suitably replied.

Ted Daken, of Seattle, complimented the local body on the manner in which they were carrying on their progressive programme of work, and the way in which they were abiding by the things that made the organization's success possible. As the banquet was, in the main, a social affair, the various clubs gave little entertainments which greatly pleased those who were present.

The ladies of the party were not forgotten during yesterday's festivities. While the male delegates were enjoying themselves elsewhere, their lady friends were visiting the Parliament Buildings, lunching at the Empress Hotel, visiting Butchart's Gardens, and attending the performance of "Grumpy" at the Playhouse. Altogether the visitors to this city thoroughly enjoyed themselves yesterday, visiting the various places of interest and of refreshment. They are thoroughly satisfied with the reception given them in this city.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES CAUSE LOSS

Home of Mr. Justice Eberts Suffered Severely From Blaze Yesterday

Culminating a day of fires, serious and slight, flames yesterday practically gutted the home of Mr. Justice Eberts, Gorge Road, Saanich. The part of the premises which escaped damage by fire was seriously wrecked by the volume of water that was needed to extinguish the flames.

The fire broke out shortly before four o'clock in a rear room, spreading from there to the kitchen and bedrooms. The flames ate their way upwards until a section of the roof had been destroyed. Water gutted the ceilings in nearly all the rooms, and flames added their toll to the damage.

The Saanich fire department was joined by a fire team from the city and together both forces worked at quelling the flames. Willing hands carried all that was movable to safety before the flames secured their serious hold. The loss is covered by insurance, it is understood. Mr. Justice Eberts and Mrs. Eberts are remaining as the guests of Mrs. Crow.

Roy Edwards, London, Says Tanlac Gave Him the Health of a Schoolboy

"It surely was a lucky day when I first got Tanlac, for I have gained 16 pounds and feel like a schoolboy again," recently declared Roy Edwards, 295 Richmond Street, London, Ont.

"Eating always caused me awful pains in my stomach. I was thin, pale and nervous and got so weak and discouraged I lost all interest in life. Well, sir, every dose of Tanlac made me feel better and better until now I'm always hungry as a bear two hours before meal time, eat three big meals a day and my stomach never hurts me any more. My nerves are so steady, I get eight or nine hours good, restful sleep every night and I'm so strong and alert I enjoy life more than ever."

"My wife has taken Tanlac for stomach trouble and she, too, has had splendid results. We both think so much of Tanlac we never fail to praise it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold. (ADVT.)

POST'S BRAN FLAKES

With Other Parts of Wheat

Man has always needed bran. Nature always intended that man should eat it for its laxative, body-toning, healthful effects. But bran has heretofore been so unpalatable, so unappetizing that vast numbers have reverted to the use of reactive laxative drugs.

Now comes Post's Bran Flakes—a delicious, delicate, appetizing bran food that you'll like to eat. Thin, crisp, tasty, toasted flakes with milk or cream—you'd hardly know the bran was there but it is—in most delicious form.

Your nearest grocer can supply you with Post's Bran Flakes. Insist on the genuine. A generous package for 18c.—2 for 35c. Include it in your next grocery order.

COMMONS APPROVES HALIBUT TREATY

Bill Giving Effect to Pact With United States Passed

To Conserve Greatest Halibut Fisheries in World

Ottawa, June 28.—Final reading was given by the House of Commons last night to a bill to give effect to the North Pacific Halibut Treaty between Canada and the United States. Introduction of the bill followed on approval of the treaty itself earlier in the day.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, declared that the course adopted at Washington in regard to signature of the treaty constituted an "indecorous change" from precedent. He protested against the assumption that he objected to the fullness of Canadian autonomy and national rights or that he was in favor of British domination. Mr. Meighen also questioned whether Canada had the right to pass legislation to govern outside Canadian territorial waters.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, replied that the legislation had been drafted by the Department of Justice.

In Canadian territorial waters it would apply to everybody. Outside Canadian territorial waters it would apply to Canadians only.

Re-Exportation by Japanese.

Hon. H. H. Stevens foresaw that when this measure was carried through there would be nothing to stop Japanese vessels coming across, catching the fish, taking them back to their own ports and re-exporting them. He reminded the Minister that in the last five years the Japanese had virtually pushed British Columbia out of the British markets in the salmon canning trade.

Mr. Lapointe admitted there was no way of preventing this if the Japanese did not use Canadian United States ports. The Government thought, however, that by closing these ports it would be impossible for ships of foreign countries to carry on.

Mr. Meighen asked what was the use of asking Parliament to pass the bill if the Governor-in-Council was to be given unconditional rights to repeal it.

After Ratification.

Mr. Lapointe explained that the close season for halibut could not come into force until after ratification of the treaty by the United States, or in case the United States passed concurrent legislation. Parliament knew what was to be done, said Mr. Lapointe, and was authorizing the process.

Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen declared that in the signature of the treaty, Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador at Washington, had figuratively speaking, been kicked out of the door.

Meighen's Views

"Why," Mr. Meighen asked, "should we continue this process of offering one affront after the other in order, if possible, to magnify and emphasize before the world our desire to disassociate ourselves from the rest of the Empire?"

The Senate reservation, in making the treaty applicable to the rest of the Empire, had "completely destroyed" the pedestal upon which the Minister of Marine wished to stand," declared Mr. Meighen.

No Discourtesy

Mr. Lapointe warmly resented any charge of discourtesy with regard to Sir Auckland Geddes.

"When a man is twenty-one," he argued, "as my right honorable friend has many times said this nation is, it is not discourtesy on his part to sign a promissory note without asking his former guardian to sign with him."

If to sign the treaty had been a crime, Mr. Lapointe declared himself an "unrepentant sinner."

The Canadian Government did not wish to accept the Senate reservation for it would mean submission of the treaty for ratification to all the Parliaments of the Empire, but he thought the legislation to be enacted both by Canada and the United States would reach the same end.

Domestic Matter

Premier King concluded that the Canadian Government took the view that the treaty was a domestic concern of Canada, considered the signature of the Canadian Minister sufficient. Had the treaty had an imperial character Canada would have expected the British Ambassador to sign.

To Conserve Fish

Hon. Ernest Lapointe traced the conditions which had led up to the negotiation of the treaty. Off the west coast of Canada was located the greatest halibut fishery in the world. It had been discovered that the fish went north to the coast of Alaska and vicinity in the spawning season. The time of this movement coincided with the opening of the winter fishing season, and large quantities of the fish were taken, this resulting in great destruction of the young fish.

The negotiation of a treaty had been recommended by an international commission appointed in 1918, which had advised a close season. The treaty had been drafted by the United States and accepted with slight modification by the Canadian Government. The amendment regarding nationals of other parts of the Empire, Mr. Lapointe thought, would not have been added if the treaty had been introduced earlier in the session of the United States Congress.

Mr. Lapointe declared that legislation which would be enacted would make it impossible for nationals of any country to fish for halibut during the close season. In the territorial waters of Canada and the United States the fishing would, of course, be prohibited. It was impossible for the fishing to be carried on in the extra-territorial waters without using either American or Canadian ports as a base. The mere closing of these ports would make it an impossibility for nationals of any country to engage in the industry.

Opposed to Reservation

He objected to the reservation because it would necessitate ratification of the Empire by all the Parliaments of the Empire. In any case, went on Mr. Lapointe, the Government did not desire to bind Australia or the United Kingdom. The treaty was the concern of Canada. As to the practical effort, Japanese fishermen would be far more likely to operate in the halibut fields than the citizens of any part of the British Empire except Canada, and the legislation proposed by the Government would apply to Japanese and other nations as well as to citizens of the British Empire.

To Be Withdrawn

Mr. Lapointe said the Government had submitted this treaty to the House because it had reasonable assurances the United States Senate would withdraw the rider at the next session.

Mr. Lapointe said that was the information that had been given out. Canada was now an international unit, and Canadians ought not to be ashamed of it.

Mr. Meighen interjected that he had never objected to separate representation for Canada.

Recognized

The Minister of Marine cited the opinions of Sir Robert Borden and Hon. N. W. Rowell as to Canada's distinctive international status. Mr. Rowell had said that this status was recognized by all leading countries except Russia and the United States. The signature of the Halibut Treaty, commented the Minister, implied that the United States had recognized that status.

Surely, said Mr. Lapointe, it was no discourtesy for Canada to sign her own promissory note. It was not an act of discourtesy but, he continued, "it is an act of gracious courtesy on the part of His Majesty the King to appoint Canadian public men to sign Canadian treaties on his behalf," thus recognizing the autonomy of the Dominion.

"In conclusion," declared Mr. Lapointe, "I say that the treaty which is submitted for the approval of the House has the same force, the same strength and the same validity if signed by a Canadian that it would have if signed by somebody else."

Step by Step

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, expressed his conviction that every member of the House was a loyal Canadian despite different ways of asserting that loyalty. He rejoiced in the fact that, step by step, Canada was obtaining full nationhood, free and equal with any nation in the Commonwealth. He had no fear for the future as respected the Crown, to which all owed fealty.

Drayton's Views

Sir Henry Drayton declared there was only one question at issue, and that was as to what constituted partnership.

"We have an idea that the force of this country can be best exercised in close co-operation with other parts of the British Empire," he said. "We have an idea that the British Empire is strong when it acts as one and not when we have four or five or six sections of the Empire doing something else."

Sir Henry said the best influence for the future of civilization and the world was that Canada should continue in a joint union with the other members of the British Empire. There was still a lot in tradition, he added. After all, the British Ambassador in Washington was their Ambassador as much as Britain's.

Between Canada and U.S.

Premier King said the Canadian Government had taken the ground that the convention was not one between the United States and Great Britain, but was between the United States and Canada. If it had been a covenant with reference to the British Empire it would appear appropriate to name the British Empire in the title, but this was not the case.

"It might be noted," said the Premier, "that the Government of Canada was not the only Government which had commented unfavorably on this title. The British Government had suggested the treaty might be called a covenant for the regulation of halibut fisheries on the west coast of Canada and the United States."

In conclusion, the Premier said Mr. Meighen's observation on the Government's desire to disassociate itself from the British Empire was a "thoroughly disloyal remark." The Government believed the action it had taken would increase the faith of Canadians in the greatness of the Empire.

The resolution then carried.

Record for One Day Made at Montreal Auction

Montreal, June 28.—A record of sales of over $900,000 for the day was registered at the fur auction here yesterday, according to a statement by the vice-president of the company. About seventy-five per cent. of this was made by the typically Canadian fur muskrat, of which it is stated 700,000 pelts were sold.

The other feature of the sale was silver fox, the pelts of which, while few in number, sold at prices averaging twenty-five per cent. better than last March prices.

With detonating gasoline the explosion may end here.

With Union Non-Detonating Gasoline the explosion through the piston throat, like this.

Non-Detonating Gasoline Works a Full Stroke

Gasolines explode in two ways. One kind explodes with a crash. It detonates.

The piston receives but a single smashing impulse for each stroke. The power of the explosion is over before the piston is half way down the full length of its stroke.

Due to the tendency to explode prematurely, detonating gasoline limits compression in your cylinders.

It causes much of the "knocking" you notice on hills. And the repeated crashing blows increase vibration, thus increasing wear and tear.

The Sustained Explosion

The explosion from Union Gasoline is of the other kind. It is sharp but sustained—non-detonating. It gives impulse to the piston for the full length of the stroke.

Power and efficiency are increased as a result of increased compression, because, as all authorities know, non-detonation permits added compression.

New Speed

This added smoother power means a new "lift" on hills. You take grades with a rush. Your motor doesn't "knock."

There's more snap in your pickup and new speed on the level.

Vibration is reduced, which saves wear and tear. Fuel mileage is increased due to better efficiency all around.

So there are ample reasons for selecting Union Non-Detonating Gasoline.

Union is the product of progressive refining methods. Its quality is governed by exhaustive tests. The research of able engineers and chemists, equipped with every accepted facility for studying refining methods, is constantly devoted to its improvement.

EARLY SELLING PRESSURE OVERCOME

(By Burdick Bros., Ltd.)
New York, June 28.—Further pressure was in evidence in the market in the early dealings, but after the selling had spent itself, the market began to display pronounced resistance, and as the session progressed a substantial rally got under way, which in most instances elevated quotations above last night's closing figures. There was no particular news to-day, the very favorable earnings constituted a very helpful influence and overshadowed other influences in connection with the transportation situation. Short covering throughout the list was indulged in active fashion, and the action of the market seemed to lend color to the belief that the short side has become congested. There is but little doubt that the market has reached a stage where a better class of buying is being attracted in many departments. Drastic liquidation in the last few months has undoubtedly placed the market in a fine technical position. Furthermore, there is reason to suppose that the short interest of substantial proportions is outstanding.

PLANES TO LEAVE DECKS OF LINERS

Handley Page Predicts Atlantic Passenger Transportation Development

International Air Congress Held in London

London, June 28.—At the International Air Congress, now in session here, papers on various subjects have been discussed.

Handley Page, speaking on the subject of commercial aviation, criticized the present day planes, saying the aim seemed to be to crowd as many people into the smallest space possible, and this tended to lose sight of the necessity for safety of the passengers.

Within the near future he expected airplanes would be developed capable of carrying 100 passengers and able to fly off the decks of ocean liners before their landing, thus saving two days of the trans-Atlantic passage.

SURPRISED TO FIND WIFE ALIVE

Telephone Message Wrongly Reported to Stouffville, Ont., Man

Stouffville, Ont., June 28.—After arranging with an undertaker for the funeral and with a sexton for the digging of a grave, Abraham Yake, of Stouffville, went to Toronto to bring home his wife's body and found she was still alive. When word reached Stouffville that there would be no funeral, the grave had already been prepared.

RECOUNTS IN ONTARIO RIDINGS

Toronto, June 28.—It is probable recounts will be demanded in several constituencies where the vote was very close in the Ontario provincial general election on Monday. Nelson Parliament, defeated in Prince Edward County by a very slight majority, will probably request another count, while the same action is expected to be taken in South Waterloo, where K. K. Homuth, Labor, was given the decision by a small majority.

Winnipeg M. P. Objects to Page's Statement on Unrest

Ottawa, June 28.—(Canadian Press)—In the House of Commons to-day E. J. McMurray, Liberal, 2nd Winnipeg, drew the attention of the Government to a dispatch from Windsor, Ont., which quoted Inspector Page of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Canadian Northern Railway, as saying: "Western Canada is in the same state of unrest from the action of Bolsheviks and other Reds as Europe was in ten years ago."

Mr. McMurray said this statement was false. He asked if the Minister of Railways would conduct an investigation and ascertain if Mr. Page had made the statement, and if so have him dismissed from the railway service.

THE KING'S EMERALD RING
Part III.

"Was the emerald ring ever found?" the witch inquired, as Felicia began to weep over the sad story she had told of her grandfather's downfall.

"I have come to ask your help. With your magic art make me see the ring, and possibly the key, as about the King and mingle with the ladies of the court. In that way I may be able to find out where the ring is hidden and expose the treachery of Lord Charles."

"For helping me I expect to pay you, for as soon as my grandfather is restored to favor he will again have the wealth the King took from him and you shall have gold, many bags of yellow gold."

A CRUSHING REPLY.

"The floor's remarkably slippery," said a young man as the orchestra played a popular fox-trot. "It's jolly hard to keep on your feet."

"It's not absolutely essential that you should keep on my feet," returned his partner, crushingly.

MOTH AND THE FLAME.

Suitor: "Sir, your daughter has promised to become my wife."

Father: "Well, don't come to me for sympathy; you might know something would happen to you hanging round here five nights a week!"

Early Banking Days in British Columbia

Some Recollections of the late H. H. Rowley

My banking experience in British Columbia started in November, 1895, when I came from Winnipeg to Vancouver as teller in the Bank of British North America. At that time Vancouver had only three banks, namely, the Bank of Montreal, Bank of British Columbia (afterwards absorbed by the Canadian Bank of Commerce), and the Bank of British North America, and the combined staffs of all these banks did not number as many as we have at present in our Main Office in Vancouver. About Christmas time the Imperial Bank opened in Vancouver, but business was very quiet during all that Winter and the Spring of '96. The mining excitement in '96, 1896, in the Kootenays attracted the banks, and they started opening up branches. The Bank of British North America went into Rossland, followed in a day or so by the Bank of Montreal. I might mention that the secretary was the word of a pretty wild sort of town, and on Saturdays and stage days all the ranchers in the neighborhood came to town for their mail and a drink or so. One night there was not much mail, but a good deal of drink, and things were very lively. The ranchers were on horseback, and riding into the bars for their drinks. Firearms were being discharged, and the teller of the B.N.A. thought a hold-up was taking place. The bank safe has not yet arrived, so the cash was in the personal care every night, so he posted off to his bedroom, getting under the bed with his cash, and stayed there until found by the manager some two hours afterwards.

Disguised as Doctor.
 When the B.N.A. staff went to Rossland, some went via Seattle, and two went up to Revelstoke, by the stoke and down the Arrow Lakes by boat. The accountant, who took the stationery with him, travelled in the guise of a doctor and had everything addressed to himself in that way.

There was a mad rush on for the Upper Country to get into towns and open branches, and it was no uncommon sight to see the bank doing business in a billiard hall from ten o'clock in the morning to three in the afternoon, and then moving out and the billiard parlors would continue for the rest of the day. In opening in Rossland the B.N.A. used a barber shop from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. When the B.N.A. first opened in Ashcroft it was a pretty wild sort of town, and on Saturdays and stage days all the ranchers in the neighborhood came to town for their mail and a drink or so. One night there was not much mail, but a good deal of drink, and things were very lively. The ranchers were on horseback, and riding into the bars for their drinks. Firearms were being discharged, and the teller of the B.N.A. thought a hold-up was taking place. The bank safe has not yet arrived, so the cash was in the personal care every night, so he posted off to his bedroom, getting under the bed with his cash, and stayed there until found by the manager some two hours afterwards.

The Yukon.
 During the year of '96 other banks came to Vancouver, namely, the Merchants Bank, the Bank of British Columbia, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

In the Autumn of '96 word came of the big strike in the Yukon, and preparations were made during that Winter for some of the banks to go in there. In March, '97, the Bank of British North America had decided to open in Dawson, and I was chosen, with four others, to go in over the ice and open the branch, but when the time came for the party to leave the bank decided that as I was a married man it would not be advisable to send me in. The British contingent got away from Vancouver about the last of March, and landed in Dawson City on the 15th of May and opened for business two days after that. The Bank of Commerce got there a few days afterwards.

These were the only two banks that went into the Yukon proper, but the British, the Commerce, and the Merchants Bank of Halifax, opened branches at Atlin and Bennett, and the Bank of Commerce also had a branch for some time at Skagway. About this time the first branch banks were opened in Vancouver, and I think the first one was by the Merchants Bank of Halifax (now the Royal), on Westminster Avenue, now called Main Street, and on the site that they now occupy as the Main-East End Branch.

In December, 1898, the Vancouver Clearing House was established, the Bank of B.N.A. being appointed the clearing bank. I was appointed manager, but I only acted in this capacity for a short time. The Victoria Clearing House was started just about the same time, with the Canadian Bank of Commerce as the clearing bank.

During all the Yukon excitement business was very strenuous in Vancouver, and it was no uncommon thing to see the teller's box, after banking hours, loaded up with American bills and English sovereigns, the sovereigns coming from the Australians who were passing through Vancouver on their way to the Yukon.

Many Banks Open Branches.
 I had a trying experience in the teller's box at this time, as through the rush and worry of the day's work, I, by mistake, paid out a $1,000 American bill in place of a $100 bill, but through the energy and kindness of Mr. Neill, the present General Manager of the Royal Bank, who was then the accountant of the Merchants Bank of Halifax, Vancouver, I was able to recover this money.

The mining excitement in the Kootenays and the Yukon turned the eyes of the business world towards British Columbia, and the result was that all the Canadian banks started to open branches, so that in a few years' time almost every Canadian bank had a branch in Vancouver, and a good many of them in Victoria.

Branch banks started in all over the Province. In 1895 there were only ten branches of banks operating in the Province, and to-day there are 240.

The Union opened in Vancouver in 1907, I think, with Thos. McCaffrey as manager, and before many years had 20 branches in the Province. Some of these, however, were closed when the war came on, and were not reopened after peace, as the business did not warrant it.

Early in February, 1899, I was appointed accountant of the B.N.A. in Victoria, taking the place of J. W. Hamilton. I remained in Victoria five years, and during that time I relieved at some of the branches in the upper country, and in 1904 I was made manager at Rossland, B.C.

Rossland was one of the most up-to-date mining towns on the continent at that time, and the banking experience there was very good. One came in contact with people from all over the world. Later on a sub-branch of the bank was opened at Trail, and once a week the staff from Rossland used to go down the hill, coming back at night on horseback, sometimes bringing $15,000 and $20,000 in cash. In the saddlebag W. nothing was thought of this at the time, as hold-ups were unknown in that district; it was the only means of getting the money back, owing to the express office and post office being closed, as the bank kept open until nine o'clock at night.

Rossland as a banking town had its "ups and downs" and while there were four banks there, the business was principally with two of them, so much so that after two or three years' experience one of the Eastern banks closed up and left, in fact, they left the Province altogether for the time being.

The above article is part of one written by the late manager of the Union Bank here for the magazine of that bank, and deals with the period from 1895 to 1909, when he went East, returning to B. C. in 1914.
